The New Act of the Ontario Legislature Now in Force.

The act passed at the last session of the Ontario legislature prohibiting every municipality from granting bonuses to secure the removal thereto of an industry already established elsewhere in the province, went into force on the first of the present month. The enforcement of this law will effectually suppress the bonus-hunter, while in the case of bonuses to manufacturers, not now doing business in the province, it is provided that these shall not be granted unless they have the support of two-thirds of the qualified voters, as well as a majority of the votes actually polled on the bylaw placed before the taxpayers. A further protection to the taxpayers is provided in a clause which enacts that no bonus shall be granted if the payment of principal and interest upon it, together with the principal and interest on other bonuses already granted, involves an annual levy exceeding 10 per cent of the total annual municipal taxation. Time was when the unscrupulous bonus hunters went from place to place pocketing the shekles of the trusting municipalities, and in many cases almost making a living by simply keeping moving.

MR BOWELL NOT TRAPPED,

He Received a Sackville West Letter but Paid no Attention to it.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Hon. Mr. Bowell minister of customs, was the recipient two months ago of a letter designed as in the case of Lord Sackville, to draw from him some expressions of opinion which might be of use in the presidential election campaigne in the United States. "It is very strange, he said, that I forgot all about the letter until coming up from Sherbrooke the other night, and when in conversation with Sir John Macdonald I remembered that I had received a letter sent apparently with a similar object in view as that which entrapped Lord Sackville. The letter came from Michigan and the writer wished to know the wishes of the Conadian government in regard to the presidential election. The writer intimated that if the government wished votes cast in a certain direction it might be done. I did not reply or take any notice of the letter. In fact I thought very little of it, and it entirely slipped from my memory until I remembered it, as I told you, the other day."

ALLEGED INTERVIEWS REPUDIATED

The New York Star of Friday contained a despatch from Ottawa giving what purported to be interviews with Hon. Messrs Chapleau and Bowell and Senator Clemow, in which all three gentlemen are represented as strongly in favor of Harrison's election to the Presidency. Messrs Bowell and Clemow are reported as saying that the Orange vote of the United States would be cast solidly for the Republican candidates as "the true friends of Protestantism." Mr. Bowell is reported as asserting that the loyal Orange element would never be found marching under the same banners as the hoodlum Irish of New York, and advising everyone of the British Protestants living in the United States to vote for Harrison and Morton. Mr. Bowell when interviewed upon the matter this afternoon said; "No such interview ever took place between anyone and myself when coming up on the train from Montreal or elsewhere. It is a pure invention, an unmitigated lie as far as I am concerned, and I suppose as to the others also."

AROUND TOWN

A heavy snow storm fell here last year on the 18th of November.

The Salvation Army serenaded the blue coats at No. 1 police station yesterday afternoon.

Agents are in town gathering men for the lumber shanties in the northern townships.

William Corbett who fell from a tree on George street some days ago is still very low.

A fireman on the G. T. R. double track fell into a cattle guard on Friday evening but escaped injury.

Capt. Henderson, proprietor of the Henderson House, will remove his office one door south and rent the present one.

Are unlike all other pills. No purging or pain. Act specially on the liver and bile. Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose.

A copy of the city voter's list for 1888 has been posted up in the clerk's office for inspection.

Many persons keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand to prevent bilious attacks, sick headache, dizziness, and find them just what they need.

The seats in the new St. Michael's church have all been rented and a number of new pews have been ordered to meet the demand.

Edward Nailor, a first class horse shoer has removed his shop from the O'Brien house yard to the Albion hotel, where he will be prepared to do custom work promptly.

The Aroma of Kindness Can Never Die—In calling attention, Dr. Cockle's Anti-bilious Pills for all cases of suffering from biliousness, indigestion, headache, heartburn and sourness of stomach, there is positive kindness. For sale the world over.

Mr. Dunham, of the British American hotel, Kingston, has bought the Burnett house in that city, and will spend $10,000 in making it a first class hotel.

Napanee is moving to secure the location there of the new Government Agricultural College. A committee has been appointed to interview the Government in the matter. What is the mayor and city council of Belleville doing to secure the location of this college in Belleville?

If the appropriation of $9,000 on streets is exhausted, as Ald. Graham stated it was at the last meeting of the Council, how is it that teams and men are at work on different streets attempting to do work that should have been done in dry weather?

At the Albert College concert, to be given on the 11th inst., there will be present to address the students, Dr. Carman, city, Dr. Burwash of Cobourg, and Dr. Potts of Toronto.

Rev. R. Wallace preached in the Baptist church last evening. Miss Scott, who is shortly leaving the city for Zenanas, in India, to engage in missionary work, spoke a few words to the congregation, imploring their prayers and sympathy in her behalf.

Chief Police Newton on Saturday received a telephone call from Clarke's drug store that ten young men were sitting along the window sill using obscene language to ladies passing by. The Chief will prosecute them if there is any law that will enable him to do so.

Wm. Cero and not Fred was the name of the boy who looked at the stolen watch in the post office yard.

Mr. Fred Richardson, will resume giving lessons in oil and water painting at his studio in Metropolitan block on Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week.

Remember the Sunday School Mass Meeting in the Tabernacle this evening. Miss E. N. Gould, Miss Annie Campbell, and Rev. Amos Campbell will deliver addresses.

At the Tabernale yesterday Rev. Mr. Copeland preached in the morning on the subject of "Companionship with Jesus." In the evening Rev. Mr. Lent, from New York State, preached a very fine sermon. A large number of new members were received by the pastor in connection with the communion service.

Medicine vendors everywhere confirm the fact, and in the interest of their pockets the information may be relied upon as correct that sufferers from liver disease, indigestion, heartburn, headache and acidity of stomach will find a sure and safe relief from a dose of Dr. Cockle's well-known Anti bilious pills.

THE C. P. R. REDUCES ITS GUARD OF SPECIALS TO A FEW MEN.

The Newspaper Libel Suits at Manitoba's Capital—The Free Press Wants Fifty Thousand Dollars from The Sun.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 5.—There is no change whatever in the railway situation at Fort Whyte. The force of military is still in camp but the Canadian Pacific Railway specials have been reduced to a corporal's guard.

The Manitoba and Northern Pacific will apply for incorporation at the next session of the Dominion Parliament.

No bills were returned in the criminal libel suits brought against The Free Press and The Call, and it is rumored that a royal Commission will be appointed to investigate the charges.

The detatchment of mounted police to patrol the boundary arrived last night.

In The Free Press' libel suit against The Sun the damages are laid at $10,000.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Hungarian Immigration to the Northwest—The Militia Clothing Contracts.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—An effort is being made by the Dominion Government to have the case between the Dominion and the British Columbia Governments with respect to the ownership of mineral lands in that province, which is now before the Imperial Privy Council, postponed until after the close of the Parnell investigation, as Attorney-General Webster has been retained to represent the Dominion Government. The British Columbia Government objects to postponement.

Mr. Julius Vasse, a Hungarian gentleman, is in the city for the purpose of conferring with the Department of Agriculture concerning the immigration of Hungarians to the Canadian Northwest. Mr. Vasse proposes to issue illustrated pamphlets in the Hungarian language to be distributed among the peasants of Hungary.

The Militia Department will not award any contracts for clothing this year. The existing contracts are for a period of three years.

THE BANDIT FRUGOSO KILLED.

Last of the Cuban Highwaymen Who Stole Rich Planters for Ransoms.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Spanish Consul-General in this city received a cablegram yesterday from Havana to the effect that the famous bandit, Victor Frugoso, has been killed and some of his companions wounded by the civil guard of Cuba.

Of this man Frugoso the Consul has no knowledge save that he is a member of the band of highwaymen about whom there was so much talk last winter by timid Americans who hesitated to go to Havana for a season lest their families might have to take all the pennies out of their little tin savings banks to get the men out of pawn.

The representatives of the Consul says that these bandits never take women or children to hold for ransom, but that occasionally they do take rich men, planters and merchants, and keep them in custody until properly bailed out of the unpleasant swamps where they are confined.

Al... the Cuban bandit in the natural situation of Havana, and although there are plenty of fastnesses about the city, the place of attack is mainly in the suburbs, where very few strangers go. The band has been shot down and killed off until the romance has somewhat left them, and what little is left smacks more of the life of an every-day highway robber than of a picturesque medieval bandit.

THE CORNWALL CANAL.

Another Break Discovered—The Prospect Said To Be Discouraging.

CORNWALL, Nov. 5.—The canal bank gradually settled Friday afternoon about two feet or more, and a crack has been discovered in the bank where the old break occurred. It was thought that boats would be able to run to-day, but the chances are that they will not get through this fall. Most people who have visited the scene of the break say it is very doubtful, and think that when the water is let in the canal the pressure will be so great that the bank will go out once more.

Lots of Trouble in Prospect.

ESSEX CENTRE, Nov. 5.—Last week the citizens of Essex Centre decided on having electric lights in the village, and since then the Reliance and the Ball companies have been fighting as to who shall get the contract. The former company was getting the best of it, and the Ball Company decided upon a novel way of getting there first. Friday night or Saturday morning, when the majority of the citizens were in the arms of Morpheus, the company got a gang of men, put up their posts and strung the wires, and when the morning came the astonished people saw an electric system all ready but the dynamo. They became enraged at the action of the company, and on Saturday evening sawed every pole down. The streets are now covered with fallen poles and wires, and there is every prospect of lots of trouble.

Collingwood Wins the Championship.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 5.—The last of the series of championship football matches for the Northern District pennant was played here Saturday between the Everett and Collingwood teams. Play was called at 10.45, and during the first half time Collingwood scored three goals to Everett's one. In the second half neither scored. A week ago these two clubs met at Everett, the result being that neither club scored. Collingwood defeated Barrie in the first match, and Everett beat Allison. Collingwood by defeating Everett wins the championship badges for the fourth successive season.

Mr. Kerby's Misfortune.

PETROLIA, Nov. 5.—Mr. E. D. Kerby, who contested East Kent on two occasions in the Conservative interest and who at one time was considered in good circumstances, has been taken to the London Asylum. Mr Kerby has been under a cloud both mentally as well as physically for some time past.

Factional Opposition.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 5.—The Opposition party in the Folkething are using every effort to defeat the Government's plan for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Christian's accession to the throne, on Nov. 15.

Minister Phelps to be Banqueted.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Mr. Phelps, the United States Minister, will deliver an address before the Glasgow Juridical Society on Nov. 15. The municipal authorities of Glasgow will afterwards give a banquet in honor of Mr. Phelps.

London Cheese Market.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 5.—Twenty-five factories offered 12,205 boxes September and balance; sales 300 July and August at 8⅞c; 230 August and September at 9 5-8c; market dull.

TORONTO TOPICS.

An Alleged Gambling House Raided—Two Thieves Captured—Bell Remanded.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—Inspectors Archabold and Stephen and Sergeant Detective Reburn headed a posse that effected a forcible entrance to "Phip" Spohn's alleged gambling house at 112½ King-street west just before midnight on Saturday. "Phip" and a couple of friends were at the foot of the stairs when the officers arrived. Sergeant Reburn told him what was wanted, and requested that he open the door. Spohn refused, but intimated that the officers would find everything all right up-stairs. Reburn at once ascended, but the door was closed and barred, and no amount of pounding could elicit a response. Then a sledge-hammer was brought into requisition, and a couple of blows quickly opened the way in. The only occupant of the place was in a bed in a small room. He was told to dress and come along, being arrested on a charge of being an inmate of a gambling house. He gave his name as E. W. Crane ("Major"). A search of the premises resulted in the discovery of portions of a faro lay-out and a couple of tables. A charge of running a common gambling house will be preferred against Spohn.

On Saturday night at 9.15, as a woman named Mrs. Falconer, was stepping on a south-bound car on Yonge-street, she was knocked down by a car going north, the wheels of which passed over her thigh. She had a seven months old child in her arms, which miraculously escaped injury. Mrs. Falconer was removed to the Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the injured limb. She is doing well and may recover.

Mr. H. S. Smith and Mr. Alexander Boyd captured two thieves at 386 Sherbourne-street last night just as they were getting away with a lot of booty. They gave their names as John Lee, no home, and Patrick Martin, 168 Parliament-street. Martin was recognized as a convicted thief the moment he entered the station house, and Detective Cuddy, who arrived shortly after the arrest, identified Lee as Patrick McEvoy, who had just concluded a three-years term in the Kingston Penitentiary for burglary.

The funeral of Mr. W. A. Foster, Q. C., which took place Saturday afternoon from his late residence, 22 St. Joseph-street, to the Necropolis, was largely attended, among those who assembled to pay a last tribute to the deceased being many of the judges, leading members of the bar and other professions and prominent business men.

The great talk among Toronto military men at present is the coming sham fight at High Park on Thanksgiving Day.

In the Board of Works investigation Contractor Godson's ex-bookkeeper, James Hardy, continued his evidence, which contained nothing beyond what has already been published.

Edward Bell appeared in the Police Court on Saturday to answer the charge of brutally assaulting his mistress, Annie Ferguson. He elected to be tried summarily and was remanded for a week to await the result of the woman's injuries.

INCOMPATIBILITY.

Resignation of a Hamilton Rector—How ...

HAMILTON, Nov. 5.—Rev. Mr. Mockridge, rector of Christ Church Cathedral, has tendered his resignation, to take effect in three or four months from Nov. 1. Dr. Mockridge gives as the reason that the management "are trying to make a fashionable uptown church of a church situated in the poorer part of the city, and by the means of high pew rents they keep the masses out of the edifice. As stated in my sermons, I am against the principle of money qualifications for the privileges of a church, and I am determined in future to labor in a free church during the rest of my life."

Chairman Roach of the Committee of Management and one of the churchwardens says it is the opinion of the committee and the wardens that the resignation will be accepted. A vestry meeting to consider the matter will be held about Nov. 22. Mr. Roach said further: "Dr. Mockridge took up prohibition, and his sermons on that offended several prominent members of the congregation. He went on about these establishments where they make the abominable stuff—whisky and ale, and wanted the time to come when they would be swept off the face of the earth. That offended several prominent members. Then he had been discourteous in his language from the pulpit on other questions, and the harmony of the church has been seriously affected."

Two Little Girls Drowned at Galt.

GALT, Nov. 5.—At noon Saturday the three children of S. F. B. Reid, dentist, two girls and a boy, aged 11, 6 and 5 years respectively, were amusing themselves on the banks of the Grand River, and it is supposed that one of them fell into the river, which at that particular place is deep, and that the others in trying to make a rescue also fell in. The little boy, the youngest of the children, was seen clinging to the rocks. He was saved, but the two girls were drowned.

Shooting Affray in a Court Room.

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 5—During the progress of a slander suit in the court here on Saturday, trouble arose between Robert Seconce and a man named Hardwick over the testimony given by the former, and Hardwick shot and fatally wounded Seconce. The latter's brother in return shot Hardwick. Both wounded men died yesterday.

Mrs. Bowman Granted a Divorce.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Judge Tuley charged the jury in the Bowman divorce case Saturday morning, and soon after the jury brought in a verdict finding the issue in favor of Mrs. Bowman's common law marriage, and granting her a divorce. Judge Tuley will enter a decree of divorce.

Tascotts Everywhere.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Inspector Bonfield was shown the despatch from Lexington, Va., stating that Tascott, the murderer of Millionaire Snell, had been captured near that place. He said he had not yet been advised of this capture, but was receiving two or three such despatches from different points every day.

Keep Away From Jacksonville.

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 5.—The Council has passed an ordinance imposing a fine of $500 or less or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, upon any person who enters the city without a permit from Dr. J. Y. Porter, unless such person can prove that he has actually resided within the city limits continually since Sept. 1.

Carried Grant's Famous Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—John Lynch of Indiana, a watchman in the postoffice Department, died Saturday afternoon. Lynch was a private in the late war, and when Grant was at City Point he carried to Lincoln a number of dispatches, among them being the famous one: 'I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer.'

AN OCEAN RACE.

In the spring of '68 or '69, I forget which now, I was mate of the schooner Willington, 279 tons register, in the Bermuda trade. At that time our vessel was comparatively new, having only been in commission about a year, and was considerably ahead of anything else in that trade in the way of speed. We had a first rate captain and a good crew, whose personnel was superior to the majority of coaster crews, also we were better manned for our size than most of those vessels are, and our owners were liberal in everything conducive to the comfort of the men. The Willington had the record of the fastest passage from Bermuda, and we were all proud of our beautiful schooner.

During the winter sundry rumors were afloat of a vessel building in Boston for a rival firm of produce dealers, of about our tonnage, and, as it was supposed, she was to be put on the line at the opening of the season of which I am writing.

On arriving at New York from our first trip of the year, we heard that the Invincible (for so had her owners named her) had arrived from Boston, been put in commission and cleared for Bermuda the day previous. She was apparently a beauty and our captain was very anxious to try conclusions with her, but somehow it seemed a difficult matter to get a trial, and during the busy season all rivalry had to give way to the pressure of business.

However, patient waiting was at length rewarded, and, one day after we had finished unloading and were awaiting orders, the skipper came aboard with his weather beaten face all aglow with excitement. "We've got a chance to show our mettle at last, Joe," he said, as he joined me on the deck. "Smith & Co. (our owners) have heard a good deal of blowing about that new craft and asked my advice about putting up $1,000 or $2,000 on the Willington. I told them that I had not tried her against the Invincible at all yet, but, from what I had seen of the latter, I thought we could win his money for him. Anyway we would try mighty hard. So he has taken a bet of Brown's (the Invincible's owner) of $2,500 for a race from our pier, around Bermuda and back, the start to take place a week today."

This was short notice to prepare for a race with a vessel just off the stocks and clean below the water as a new pin. Nevertheless, we set to work with a will, and that very evening had her hauled up and a gang of men cleaning her bottom, the crew, under my directions, seeing to her rigging and spars.

Monday was the day fixed for the start, and on Saturday at noon we tied up at Smith's pier ready and anxious for Monday to come.

A good twenty-four hours' rest after the exertions of the week prepared the crew for anything, and on the call for "all hands" in the morning as fine and sailor like looking lot of men trod the deck as ever manned a coaster of our tonnage.

The start was to be by a powder flash from opposite our pier in the North river at 10 o'clock a. m., so as to get the ebb tide through the Narrows. By 9:30 both vessels were maneuvering about the line for a start, standing back and forth across the river under all their canvas, the breeze being of fair strength from the south. The Invincible was a beautiful craft to look at, and I had my doubts as to our victory (for win we must) being an easy one as I watched the way she plowed through the sunlit waters, although not being sailed full half the time.

Our skipper stood near the helm, watch in hand, the rest of the crew being at their posts, ready for the beat down the upper bay and through the Narrows.

At precisely thirty seconds before 10 our captain again measured with his eye our distance above the line, replaced his watch in his pocket and gave orders for the start: "Stand by to haul your wind—luff you may, now—flatten all sheets fore and aft," and, as the helm was put down and sheets hauled in, the good schooner Willington came up to the wind in beautiful style and lay over at an angle that showed she meant business as she headed for the line on the starboard tack. "Keep her full, now," roared the skipper, "another pull on that fore sheet—so, that will do," and as a cloud of smoke rose from the end of the pier, showing that time was up, we dashed over the line ahead of our rival, who crossed on the port tack several seconds later. Down the upper bay we sped, keeping almost tack and tack, through the Narrows, past Forts Hamilton and Lafayette and out into the waters of the lower bay. Then a breeze from the east brought the wind abeam, sheets were started, and, with the Invincible a couple of cable's lengths astern and to windward, we reached down for Sandy Hook. The buoys inside the Hook were rounded soon after 1 o'clock p. m., and we settled down for a beat out to the lightship. That was rounded in due order, and with a fresh breeze blowing east by north the two schooners were headed, close hauled on the port tack, on a southeast course for Bermuda, and the race had fairly begun. Our position was now about three-quarters of a mile to leeward of the other craft, which gain she had made in the beat out to the lightship, we having almost lost the wind when under the Hook. There was a choppy sea on, the increasing wind crossing the long Atlantic swell and kicking up considerable of a pother, and once clear of land, and at the mercy of the "rolling forties," the schooner began to get pretty lively. The sky had become overcast, the clouds seemed to be getting lower, and the wind increased as it gradually headed us off, and it began to assume the appearance of what would now be called "cutter weather."

I was watching the other vessel through a glass when I saw her luff and come up in the wind. "She's taking in her tops'ls," I shouted, and when she fell off and again headed on her course it was under mains'l, and forse'l and the jib only, and even then seemed to have all the sail she wanted.

And, indeed, it was high time we were doing something, too, for our skipper was driving his vessel beyond what I thought advisable, and I expected something to go every moment. She lay over at a fearful angle, the water to leeward hissing and bubbling along her rail, while clouds of spray broke continually over the forecastle, varied occasionally by a huge wave flooding her deck fore and aft. The crew, with the exception of a couple of hands at the wheel, were crouching under the weather bulwarks, every one of them wet to the skin, when at length the expected order came: "Stand by to take in your gaff tops'ls and outer jibs, helm-a-lee, get them stowed smartly, now," and hardly were sheets slacked off and halliards manned, ere at a sign from the captain, the helm was put up and we were again tearing through the surges while the light canvas was being stowed. This eased her considerably for a time, but by sundown it was blowing half a gale while we plowed the whitecaps in grand style under a couple of reefs in main and fores'ls, our goal bearing about three points to windward of the best course we could lie. Before night closed in I took another squint at the other vessel and had the satisfaction of seeing that we had weathered on her some and were also gradually drawing ahead. The view around us was superbly grand, but things were rather too lively for any one not a seaman to enjoy it. The wind was blowing half a gale—good measure—the whole surface of the seething waters had that opaque, gray tint which the froth and bubbles of a heavy blow always give. Monstrous seas rose and fell and rose again, their tops torn to shreds as they broke into foam and spray under the fury of the gale, while the schooner, under her shortened canvas, was pitching in a way to raise a landsman's hair stand on end as one moment her sharp stem split a huge wave in twain, her forefoot the next moment suspended clear of the water over the succeeding trough of the sea as her stern sank deep in the embrace of the divided wave.

As darkness came over the scene our last sight of the Invincible showed that we were at least holding our own, and, it being my watch below, I turned in, after changing my wringing wet clothes, to make the most of what bid fair to be only a short rest.

I was awakened by the hoarse shout of "all hands on deck," and tumbled up in a hurry to find the wind abating and the crew busy shaking out the reefs in the fore and mains'ls. It being nearly my time to take charge the skipper went below, while I walked the deck in command, occasionally stopping to glance at the compass to see how we kept our course. About midnight we got the gaff and jib tops'ls on her and before the captain again appeared we had the flying jib set as well.

By daylight it was only blowing a gentle breeze, but the swell was still heavy, and as the schooner had all sail set, including a maintop mast stays'l, all that could be done was to watch and wait. It is needless to tell that, as daylight broke over the still heaving surface of the ocean, every eye aboard the vessel was eagerly searching the expanse of water for a sight of our competitor, but, from the deck, there was not a sail in sight. A hand sent aloft to the fore cross trees hailed the deck with the news of a bark off the port beam, heading to the northwest, but that was all. Speculation was rife as to the whereabouts of the other craft, the generally accepted theory of her absence from view being that she must have laid to to weather out the gale and that we had consequently run her out of sight. This idea imparted a pleasurable feeling to every one on board, as each one of us had the promise of a liberal share of the winnings in case of crossing the line first—this being an offer of our owners as an inducement to the crew—besides the natural desire to win against a crack new boat.

The remainder of our run to and around Bermuda was uneventful, light winds prevailing all the way, and our course was laid for New York with the expectation of meeting the other craft on her outward journey. But no Invincible did we see, and on the early morning of the ninth day out Sandy Hook light was sighted. By noon we were running up the lower bay under a light, baffling breeze, shifting from east to east southeast and anxiously scanning every schooner in sight, but nothing was seen of the beautiful craft for which we looked. We reported at the finish and found that we had won our money, as the other vessel was not yet in, and right well were we satisfied with the race.

When did the Invincible arrive? some one asks. She was never heard of again. Whether she struck a floating wreck, or whether thrown on her beam ends and foundered, or sprung a leak under the pressure of the gale of the first day and night, has not, nor never will be known. Her fate is one of those mysteries in which the life of a mariner abounds, and, until the sea gives up its dead, naught will never be known of the crew who manned the good schooner Invincible in her ill fated race with the now old and weather beaten coaster Willington.—Carl Torp in Detroit Free Press.

An Omaha Horse Puzzle.

It is becoming customary to ... where this paper has no horse editor, there are several people upon its staff who can tell a horse at sight, and who are not slow at arithmetic. A puzzle has occurred to one of them, and he gives it to the world at large. Suppose A sells a horse for $100 to B. Then B in turn sells him to C for $110, and the animal dies. What does each make or lose? The problem looks simple, but it is not. In the first place, A had stolen the horse. His profit would naturally be $100. A difficulty presents itself just here, for B paid A in counterfeit money, while C paid B by a note. B was indicted for passing counterfeit money. In revenge he had A arrested for stealing the horse, and both went to the pen. To add to the complications, D, the real owner of the horse, came along and claimed the hide and hoofs. The claim was disputed by C, and consequently upon the ensuing argument C's doctor's bill was $7.75. In the mean time a lawyer had gotten hold of the note and tried to collect it. C compromised the matter by licking the lawyer, and, grabbing the note, tore it up. At present there have been no more developments.—Omaha Herald.

Mr. Gladstone's Good Health.

The home rule envoys tell me that Mr. Gladstone's health is one of the marvels of the day. Medical men in London say that he is still one of the strongest men physically among the English gentry. When he strips there is not an ounce of superfluous flesh on his massive frame, and there are few men in the commons today that he could not knock out with his fist if he tried. He himself explained this by his love of exercise. His great rival, Disraeli, disdained exercise, yet Mr. Gladstone is now two years older than Disraeli was at his death, and probably does as much mental and literary and public work as any other man in Europe. He is the sole survivor of his generation of public men and yet rivals in physical strength and endurance youngsters who might be his grandchildren. His is indeed an interesting illustration of the value of outdoor exercise.—New York Star "Tattler."

The Bishop's Advice.

"And don't keep telling about your last appointment," says Bishop Fowler. "I knew a minister who was always telling how the people treated him at Brownsville. It was Brownsville here and Brownsville there—everything was Brownsville. This went on until everybody got thoroughly tired of hearing Brownsville. One night a good old lady arose in the weekly prayer meeting to give in her testimony. She was a dear, good soul—one of the saints on earth. She said she had had a hard week. 'My soul,' she said, 'has been greatly depressed all the week. I find my faith very weak and my hope very dim. I can no longer see my way to reaching heaven. I may hold out till I get to Brownsville, but I can't go a step further.' There was no more heard of Brownsville in that charge after that."—Texas Siftings.

A Question Answered.

Omaha Man—Are those pug dogs intelligent?

Omaha Lady (proud owner of a pug)—Oh, their intelligence is almost human.

"I am surprised to hear that."

"I can't begin to tell you how much the dear little fellow knows. Mercy me! Jane! Jane! Where are you?"

Jane (a servant)—Here, mum.

"Run out as fast as you can and bring the dog in. It's raining."—Omaha World.

Restaurant Slang.

Col. Redbeek went into a Park row restaurant the other day, and calling a waiter to his table ordered a beef stew, two eggs fried on one side, a piece of pineapple pie and a cup of coffee with plenty of milk. The waiter walked to a hole in the wall and warbled:

"One life preserver! Pair o' white wings, sunny side up! Er South American gravestone! Cup o' yaller with a choker on!"—New York Star.

Sick with Anxiety.

"Goodby, my dear," he said to his wife as the bell rang for all ashore. "I hope you will have a pleasant voyage with your friends, but I shall be sick with anxiety to hear of your safe arrival."

"Shall I cable from Queenstown, John?"

"Heavens, no! Send a postal card."—New York Sun.

PEW RENTS

"Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature" has been, by the greed and lack of Christian charity on the part of church trustees and officials, made to read, "Go ye, etc., and preach the Gospel to every one who can afford to pay pew rent and keep up his dues." Dr. Mockridge, of Christ Church Hamilton, is evidently a believer in the great injunction as it came from the Great Preacher before it had been worked over to suit the world of wealth and fashion of the nineteenth century. He said a few Sundays ago, that unless his officials took immediate steps towards doing without pew rent they must do without him, and now the report comes that the rev. gentleman has tendered his resignation to the church wardens. In this, as in many other controversies, there are two sides to the question. The advocates of pew rents, it is but fair to state are not opposed to this freeing of the church, that the poor as well as the rich may enter and hear God's word spoken, but through a financial consideration. Churches are built and heavily mortgaged and if the pew holders don't pay for them they advance the query who will? This problem suggests the idea that a great many people are too ready to build fine churches and by selling the pews at a high price, admit thereto only those who belong to the upper crust. The Rev. Mr. Mockridge deserves the sympathy and support of every well wisher of humanity in his effort to preach the Gospel to all classes, poor as well as rich. If pews were thrown open for everyone who would occupy them there would be little cause for complaint of unfilled churches. People deride the Salvation Army on account of their street corner meetings, and yet these same services are rendered necessary by the exclusiveness of trust boards and church officials in making an auction room of God's house, with the pews for good and apparently devotional men and women as bidders. The high plane of true religion will never be reached until it can be said of a truth that "the poor have the Gospel preached unto them," which is impossible when ministers are exclusive and hold themselves aloof, and sittings in church are so high that only the well to do can afford to pay for them.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

HON. MR. MOWAT's first brief on his resumption of practice will be for the people of the Province of Manitoba in the [illegible] before the Supreme Court this week.

THE great political struggle in the United States, for the election of president and vice-president takes place to-morrow and the result, no matter whether it be in favor of the Democrats or the Republican will have an influence over Canada in the future policy of the successful party. There are a total of 401 votes in the Electoral College; 201 are therefore necessary to a choice. It is impossible to forecast the result, but if Grover Cleveland is elected to a second term, the people of the great Republic ought to rejoice.

IT is believed that Dr. Mallory, the Reform candidate for East Northumberland, who was last year defeated in his contest for a seat in the House of Commons on the Wimanite platform of Commercial Union, will this time go one better and follow his heroic leader to the extent of proclaiming himself an out and out Annexationist. —Empire.

SKIM-MILK Cochrane has not issued his address as yet, but should he decide to ride the Annexation horse, he could secure the services possibly of Mr. F. R. Lingham and several other good Tories in this city, to assist in electing him, who are howling daily for political union with the United States. When the chief Tory organ talks against Annexation it touches a sore spot with many hide bound Tories in the Bay of Quinte section.

Telephone Extensions.

With the exception of a new line between Toronto, Hamilton and London, to be worked on the long-distance system the Telephone Company has nearly completed an unusually heavy season's work in the way of extensions to the system, and the officers report having used this year, in the Ontario Department alone, over 13,000 poles, and 1,500 miles of wire, most of which is copper. The principal new lines built were from Toronto to Arthur via Orangeville; Orillia to Waubaushene, and Barrie to Midland and Penetanguishene; Owen Sound to Hanover; Wingham to Kincardine; Teeswater to London via Wingham, Clinton and Lucan with branch to Parkhill; and in the Province of Quebec, Montreal to Three Rivers. Additional wires have also been put up between Toronto and Oshawa; Berlin and Stratford; and Listowel and Harrison; and the following new exchanges and agencies opened, viz. In Ontario: Ailsa Craig, Bolton, Caledon Chesley, Coldwater, Elmvale, Elmwood, Exeter, Fesserton, Grand Valley, Lucan, Lucknow, Parkhill, Phelpston, Tara, Teeswater, Tottenham and Woodbridge; and in Quebec: Bedford, Berthier, Charlemagne, Dorval, Joliette, Knowlton, L'Assomption, Louisville, Stanbridge East, Stanhope and Valois. Connecting offices have also been opened at Centreville Croydon, Grafton, Kingston Mills, and Roblin, in Ontario.

A "Put and Call."

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvelous. It cures the worst cough, whether acute, lingering, or chronic. For weak lungs, Spitting of Blood, Short Breath, Consumption, Night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines.

THE SOCIETY REPORTER.

How a Western Paper Gives Descriptions of Costumes.

This is how an accomplished society reporter on a Dakota paper gives its readers an idea of a soiree, with this description of the costumes worn by the ladies of the party: "Mary Monroe, red frock, white sack, and hair bunched; Emma Latrobe, yellow dress and high heeled slippers; Marion Willoughby, some kind of thin stuff, white, and tied up with blue tape, and hair frizzled; Jennie Murchison, black clothes and a feather in her hair; Ella Wexford, red hair and grey suit, flat in front and stuck out behind. Pauline Treely, bigger'n a tub, and dressed to the top branch, she had a velvet outfit a mile long, and sixteen rows of false teeth on her gloves, her hair was a dead yellow, tied up like a bun and had a lot of vegetables in it; Florence Ross, green dress, flipped with velvet, and hoisted up at the side with a white checkrain; Vinnie Hammersly, white network with red streaked, walked with a limp, and hair frescoed."

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes; the eminent scientists Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr. Dixon discovered the parasites in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease. So highly are these remedies valued, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy parasites of which they know nothing, by remedies the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son King Street west, Toronto Canada.—Scientific American

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint, cumilating in jaundice, is literary "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this sympton there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitonts of liver coinplaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPSIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humors, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, loosens the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. Hige proffessional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidences. Price, $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. After ineffectually trying many of the so called remedies for catarrh, I made a trial of Nasal Balm which gave me instant relief, and since commencing its use I daily note the beneficial changes it is producing after a few applications. It changes the unpleasant odor of the rims in the throat and the poisonous secretion over which every breath must pass. To anyone troubled it is a priceless medicine.

contains all the elements without a single exception, necessary for the formation of Flesh, Muscle and Bone. 55 per cent of Organic Matter or Flesh Forming Material; 13 per cent of Mineral Salts or phosphates. It must be evident therefore to the intelligent public that JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF has the first claim as a nutritious and strength-giving Food for [illegible] and robust.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. [At] druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and wasting diseases. It is very palatable." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Eczema, Itchy, Scaly, Skin Tortures.

The simple application of "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" [illegible] will cure any case of Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Piles, Itch, Sores, Pimples, Eczema, all Scaly, Itchy Skin Eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle. Lyman, Sons & Co. Montreal.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.

The Growth of the Hair.

Should always be watched. Inattention of the hair often leads to premature grayness or baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all Druggists everywhere.

savages. If we live through this and rescue Flossie alive," I said to myself, "I will go home to England; I have had enough of savages. Well, I did not think that we should live through it at the time, but thanks be to God and you four, we have lived through it, and I mean to stick to my resolution, lest a worse thing befall us. Another such time would kill my poor wife. And besides, Quatermain, between you and me, I am well off; it is £30,000 I am worth today, and every farthing of it made by honest trade and savings in the bank at Zanzibar, for living [here] costs me next to nothing. So, though it will be hard to leave this place, which I have made to blossom like a rose in the wilderness, and harder still to leave the people I have taught, I shall go."

"I congratulate you on your decision," answered I, "for two reasons. The first is, that you owe a duty to your wife and daughter, and more especially to the latter, who should receive some education and mix with girls of her own race; otherwise she will grow up wild, shunning her kind. The other is, that as sure as I am standing here, sooner or later the Masai will try to avenge the slaughter inflicted on them today. Two or three men are sure to have escaped in the confusion, who will carry the story back to their people, and the result will be that a great expedition will one day be sent against you. It might be delayed for a year, but sooner or later it will come. Therefore, if only for that reason, I should go. When once they have learned that you are no longer here they may perhaps leave the place alone."

"You are quite right," answered the clergyman. "I will turn my back upon this place in a month. But it will be a wrench; it will be a wrench."

CHAPTER IX.

INTO THE UNKNOWN.

A week had passed, and we all sat at supper one night in the Mission dining room, feeling very much depressed in spirits, for the reason that we were going to say goodby to our kind friends the Mackenzies, and depart upon our way at dawn on the morrow. Nothing more had been seen or heard of the Masai, and save for a spear or two which had been overlooked, and was rusting in the grass, and a few empty cartridges where we had stood outside the wall, it would have been difficult to tell that the old cattle kraal at the foot of the slope had been the scene of so desperate a struggle. Mackenzie was, thanks chiefly to his being so temperate a man, rapidly recovering from his wound, and could get about on a pair of crutches, and as for the other wounded men, one had died of gangrene, and the rest were in a fair way to recovery. Mr. Mackenzie's caravan of men had also returned from the coast, so that the station was now amply garrisoned.

Under these circumstances we concluded, warm and pressing as were the invitations for us to stay, that it was time to move on, first to Mt. Kenia, and thence into the unknown in search of the mysterious white race which we had set our hearts on discovering. This time we were going to progress by means of the humble but useful donkey, of which we had collected no less than a dozen to carry our goods and chattels, and, if necessary, ourselves. We had now but two Wakwafis left for servants, and found it quite impossible to get other natives to venture with us into the unknown parts we proposed to explore.

That evening, while we were sitting on the veranda, smoking a pipe before turning in, who should come up to us but Alphonse, and with a magnificent bow announce his wish for an interview. Being requested to fire away, he explained at some length that he was anxious to attach himself to our party—a statement that astonished me not a little, knowing what a coward the little man was. The reason, however, soon appeared. Mr. Mackenzie was going down to the coast, and thence on to England. Now, if he went down country, Alphonse was persuaded that he would be seized, extradited, sent to France and guillotined. This was the idea that haunted him, as King Charles' head haunted Mr. Dick, and he brooded over it till his imagination exaggerated the danger ten times. As a matter of fact, the probability is that his offense against the laws of his country had long ago been forgotten, and that he would have been allowed to pass unmolested anywhere except in France; but he could not be got to see this. Constitutional coward as the little man was, he infinitely preferred to face the certain hardships and great risks and dangers of such an expedition as ours than to expose himself, notwithstanding his intense longing for his native land, to the possible scrutiny of a police officer—which is, after all, only another exemplification of the truth that, to the majority of men, a far off, foreseen danger, however shadowy, is much more terrible than the most serious present emergency. After listening to what he had to say, we consulted among ourselves, and finally agreed, with Mr. Mackenzie's knowledge and consent, to accept his offer. To begin with, we were very shorthanded, and Alphonse was a quick, active fellow, who could turn his hand to anything, and cook—ah, he could cook! I believe that he would have made a palatable dish of those gaiters of his heroic grandfather which he was so fond of talking about. Then he was a good tempered little man, and merry as a monkey, while his pompous, vainglorious talk was a source of infinite amusement to us; and what is more, he never bore malice. Of course, his being so pronounced a coward was a great drawback to him, but now that we knew his weakness, we could more or less guard against it. So, after warning him of the undoubted risks he was exposing himself to, we told him that we would accept his offer on condition that he would promise implicit obedience to our orders. We also promised to give him wages at the rate of £10 a month should he ever return to a civilized country to receive them. To all of this he agreed with alacrity, and retired to write a letter to his Annette, which Mr. Mackenzie promised to post when he got down country. He read it to us afterward, Sir Henry translating, and a wonderful composition it was. I am sure the depth of his devotion and the narration of his sufferings in a barbarous country, "far, far from thee, Annette, for whose adored sake I endure such sorrow," ought to have touched up the feelings of the stoniest hearted chambermaid.

Well, the morrow came, and by 7 o'clock the donkeys were all loaded, and the time of parting was at hand. It was a melancholy business, especially saying goodby to dear little Flossie. She and I were great friends, and often used to have talks together—but her nerves had never got over the shock of that awful night when she lay in the power of those bloodthirsty Masai. "Oh, Mr. Quatermain," she cried, throwing her arms round my neck and bursting into tears, "I can't bear to say goodby to you. I wonder when we shall meet again!"

"I don't know, my dear little girl," I said. "I am at one end of life and you are at the other. I have but a short time before me at best, and most things lie in the past, but I hope that for you there are many long and happy years, and everything lies in the future. By and by you will grow into a beautiful woman, Flossie, and all this wild life will be like a far off dream to you, but I hope, even if we never do meet again, that you will think of your old friend and remember what I say to you now. Always try to be good, my dear, and to do what is right, rather than what happens to be pleasant, for

I have had catarrh for twenty years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith, druggist, of Little Falls, recommended Ely's Cream Balm. One bottle has done me so much good that I am convinced its use will effect a permanent cure. It is soothing [illegible] easy to apply and I strongly [recommend it to] all sufferers.—Geo. Terry.

TEST LENSES

Will Detect all Visual Defects

A SCIENTIFIC and practical instrument is used for detecting all optical defects of the eye and determining the lenses needed for their correction.

As we use this instrument in adjusting spectacles and eye glasses, we can guarantee satisfaction to our customers in all cases of Myopia or near sight, Hyperopia, or far sight, Presbyopia, or old sight, and Astigmatism, or poor sight, caused by oval eyes which cause some figures on a clock dial at fifteen feet to look darker than others.

This instrument measures each eye separately by a method which all oculists agree is the proper one.

In our experience many persons have been found [to] have eyes that are unlike, this is requiring lenses of different magnifying or diminishing power for each eye, which combined in one frame will give distinct normal vision.

Persons who have had difficulty in obtaining Spectacles to suit them, are cordially invited to call, and acquaint themselves with the merits of this instrument.

A Coming Rise in Coal

The price of coal is being raised at Buffalo, Toronto, and other place, and a similar rise will soon follow here. Prices in Toronto are $6.25 and $6.50, while in Belleville they are $6.25 and $5.75. The ONTARIO had a chat with a local dealer and was informed that there is a certain prospect of a big advance in prices here. It is expected coal will soon bring $6.50 a ton.

The Congregational Church

Rev. T. W. Bowen, the new pastor, preached yesterday in the Congregational church. In the afternoon he officiated at Canifton. His theme in the morning was the "Unchangeableness of God," from James 1, 16 and 17. His sermons were appreciated by large congregations.

Her successor has been appointed and will enter upon her duties in a few days.

The Sale of Skim Milk

Mr. E. B. Edwards, solicitor of Peterborough, has served notice at the department of justice to quash the proceedings in the case of John Wason, a milk dealer, who was convicted of selling milk in contravention of the act 51 Vic, chap. 32, passed by the Provincial legislature recently. Wason's advocates say the act is ultra vires and that under the British North America act the instituting of criminal proceedings in such a case should rest with the Dominion Government.

The G. T. R. Double Track.

Work on the G. T. R. line between the city and Sidney Siding is being rushed as fast as possible. Yesterday the men were working all day, and the ballast train was in use. About 150 men are employed now and fifty more are wanted. The old line has been removed to a point west of the race course. The second overhead bridge is being overhauled. In all about seven different sections on the line between Montreal and Toronto are being worked, one being fifty-six miles. It is expected that the run from Belleville to Kingston will be covered by one contractor.

THE CORNWALL CANAL

The Job has Been Mismanaged and the Canal Will not be Opened.

CORNWALL, Nov. 5.—The canal bank has gradually settled about two feet or more, and a crack was discovered in the bank where the old break occurred. The opinon was that the water would be let in on Saturday and boats would be allowed to run to-day, but the chances now are that they will not get through this fall. Most of the people who have visited the scene of the break incline to the opinion, and seem to think that when the water is let into the canal the pressure will be so great that the bank will go out once more. Gross bungling and mismanagement is attributed to those responsible for the proper repairs.

A STARTLING STORY

SERIOUS CHARGE PREFERRED AGAINST A BANK CLERK

Two English Church Clergymen to be Prosecuted for Libel if the Accusation is not Withdrawn—Immoral Literature Charged.

The report circulated on Saturday that two English church clergymen in the city were to be sued for libel in consequence of certain compromising statements alleged to have been made by them, involving the character of Mr. Thomas Aldwell, ledger keeper in the Dominion bank, fell like a bomb shell among the friends of the parties involved. Rev. J. W. Burke, rector of St. Thomas' church, and Rev. S. Daw, rector of Christ Church, are well known gentlemen and highly esteemed by the members of their respective congregations. Their word would be considered by anyone as good as their bond, yet Mr. Aldwell claims that he has been grieviously wronged by these clergymen and he has demanded an apology. Should they fail to grant him this, he will seek redress in the courts. According to the story which has reached his ears, he has been accused of circulating immoral literature. Mr. Aldwell states that there is not the slightest ground for such an accusation, and that he is perfectly innocent. He never even had such objectionable literature in his possession, he says, and when he heard the story it felt like a clap of thunder upon his ears. His brother Mr. W Aldwell, of Toronto, has been here about five weeks visiting him, and it was since his arrival that the story was circulated. They board at the Queen's Hotel and Mr. Sibbett, the landlord, speaks of them only as gentlemen. He says they keep good hours and he has not seen the slightest thing wrong in their demeanor since they became guests in the house. If they are guilty of the charge, it is a serious one for young men occupying the position they do; if they are innocent they have been most grievously wronged by some one. Mr. Aldwell stated that Rev. Mr. Daw called on the manager of the bank, Mr. Murray, and informed the chief of police what he had heard. The latter spoke to him about the matter and in this way he learned of the serious nature of the charge. The clergymen are dumb as oysters about the matter and positively refuse to make any statement to the police at present. They may be justified in the course they have taken, and their statement, when published, may throw some light on the subject.

A reporter of the ONTARIO found Mr. Aldwell at his post in the Dominion bank this morning. He has been in the Belleville branch four months. He cheerfully gave his version of the case and as he referred to the serious charge which had been made against him he spoke with deep emotion. He said the accusation that he circulated immoral literature had not the slightest foundation in truth, and he could not account for the origion of such a damaging story. He said he had instructed his solicitor, Geo. D. Dickson, Q. C., to demand an apology from both clergymen and if that was not given at once he would issue a writ against them for damages. He said he heard several weeks ago a story to the effect that he was charged with leading young men astray, but that was so ambiguous that he paid no attention to it. Later the specific accusation was made that he had been circulating immoral literature, and then he decided to sift the matter to the bottom. He said Rev. Mr. Daw spoke to the manager, Mr. Murray about him but the letter discredited the story.

Mr. J. C. Overall, a member of Christ Church congregation was spoken to. He denied that he had heard the rumor and stated that he never heard of Mr. Aldwell

Rev. S. Daw was seen at his residence by a reporter, who asked him for his version of the case. "I decline to say anything about it; good morning."

Rev. J. W. Burke likewise declined to talk about the matter "I won't say a single thing about the case to-day. It is not in a shape to go to the public at present. Good bye."

Chief of Police Newton when interviewed, said that two English church clergymen had called on him a short time ago in reference to a man named Mr. Aldwell, but as they demanded secrecy he was unable to divulge the nature of their visit to police headquarters.

Mr. Aldwell's father, who was wealthy, died a few years ago in Toronto. He was a brewer and left a large fortune to his sons. They have always borne a good character and moved in the best society.

The rev. gentlemen are respected for their earnest zeal for the cause of Christianity, and if there is no truth in the rumors they have been grievously misled by some busy-body.

"DIXIES" DEATH.

Mrs. Watson, of Kingston, His Daughter in-Law in the City.

On Saturday afternoon Officer Cook was accosted on Front St. by a woman from Kingston who gave her name as Mrs. Watson, and stated that "Dixie" was her step father. She asked the officer where she would find any trace of his friends. She has friends living in Canifton by the name of Clarke who sent her the ONTARIO containing an account of her father's mysterious disappearance and of the recent finding of his body in the harbor.

The woman whose name was Armour was married in Belleville twelve years ago to a man named Watson, a brick layer. They went from here to Toronto where they lived about a year and then went to Napanee where they resided five years. Watson then left for Kingston, where he purchased a brick yard and has since carried on business there. Some months ago she sent word to her mother in Lansing, Mich., to come and visit her, which she did and the wife of "Dixie" has since been living in Kingston. While in Lansing the mother contracted a severe illness, which has ever since clung to her, and is also now afflicted with a cancer in her breast and is very feeble in consequence. The daughter stated that her little sister Addie was still in Lansing working as a domestic. She appeared to be much in need of money. Mrs. Watson will return to Kingston, as there was apparently nothing left by "Dixie" of value after he passed through the hands of his friends on the night he disappeared.

A MARRIAGE VOW.

REV MR. LEAROYD'S SERMON IN THE BRIDGE STREET CHURCH

Practical Hints to Candidates for Matrimony—How to Chose a Partner for Life—An Excellent Discourse on a Live Topic.

There was a large congregation at the Bridge street Methodist church last night to hear a sermon on "marriage" delivered by the pastor, Rev. John Learoyd. The discourse sparkled with practical hints to young people about to set sail on the sea of matrimony. His text was:

"And the Lord God said, it is not good that man should be alone; I will make a help mate for him."—Genesis ii—18.

The rev. gentleman intimated in his opening remarks that he had no apology to offer for preaching on the subject of marriage, for he believed that the pulpit ought to speak oftener on these social questions. The press had done more of late years, he thought, in instructing young people rightfully on the importance of marriage, than had the pulpit. Too many young people got their instructions and advice on this important question from trashy novels. Marriage was a most important obligation, and from the days of Paul down to the present age it was pregnant with serious consequences. Marriage involved the closest and tenderest passions, the fondest and noblest ambitions of human beings, which death only could separate. Jesus Christ was present at the first marriage and took part in the ceremony himself. The Almighty knew what was best for man, and before he had fallen He said He would provide him with with an helpmate. That was a divine inspiration and a blessing to the world. The happiness of marriage depended on its truthfulness and choice. It might prove a life of misery with a sting as poisonous as an adder, which death only could separate. A bad match in marriage was an immateur hell. A happy marriage was a living paradise of loveliness—unrivelled in its beauty. Great consideration ought to be given to the choice of a partner for life—the most important event in their career. He regretted to say that in chosing a husband or wife they seldom appealed to reason. Imagination and fancy alone guided them in their choice; prudent advice was often unheeded. Such a solemn contract ought to be approached with the utmost caution. One should always chose a companion for a partner, one that would share their joys and sorrows alike. Courtship should be conducted so that it could never be said marriage was only a lottery; girls and boys should not get married in their teens. Marriage was no child's play. Young people should enjoy each others society—it softens the roughness of young men to be in the company of young ladies merely as their associates or as their friends. Social intercourse should be general and not particular, but not in childhood, he beseeched them should they think of chosing their parners for life. Young people are not allowed to make other contracts—contracts of every day business until they are of age—then why should they enter into the solemn agreement of marriage until they are old enough to chose between what is right and what is wrong. Some people had an idea that there was no happiness until they got married. A young lady was once offered a book on "how to make married life happy." "Oh, that's nothing" she said, "the question with me is how am I to get married." Parents had no right to select their children's partners—and the children had no right to make a choice without consulting their parents. How far this rule should apply was a difficult point to decide. Until one becomes of age and able to support a partner the parents of course had a right to decide. He forcibly warned his hearers to avoid clandestine correspondence; it was only foolish people that engaged in writing letters to everybody. No young lady ought to keep any secret from her mother. A marriage against the advice and consent of the father and mother was seldom a happy one. Avoid those silly people who advertised for correspondents—such an acquaintence was not in harmony with good etiquette, and very often lead to bad consequences. It is madness to oppose a marriage once decided on, but marriage should be founded on the basis of mutual attachment. If there was no affection on the marriage altar there will be none afterward. If that be so what an amount of perjury is committed and no happiness will ever follow where a young man choses a partner with a lie on his lips. To be a happy marriage the contracting parties should not only have an attachment of the head and hand, but of the heart. If not the love will fade with the blossom of the cheek and depart with the luster of the eye. It was cruel for parents to urge their children to marry for dollars and cents. If there was no other attachment but the greed for money, for the sake of the parties for the sake of their children and for the sake of society, don't do it. It was an awful crime to bind two souls with money alone. Marriage was a virture, and some too often set it aside. Prospects forbid unequal marriages. One's dream in such cases was seldom realized, and was wickedness to marry without a prospect of paternal support. Marry a Christian, for the most delightful walk on the Sabbath day was to God's house of worship. A marriage, too, on the sole grounds of piety was not preferable; the young man should combine some other virture besides religion. He implored them to avoid the young man who drank strong liquor, for that was the greatest curse of all. A marriage was a union for life, and if badly formed it was an evil for which there was no remedy. The discussion in the press, "is marriage a failure" elicited many opinions, but it rested with those who entered into the solemn contract to say whether it was a failure or not. Marriage made with proper advice and with a full knowledge of the responsibilities which it involved would be no failure. Marriage was no lottery, but if they shut their eye and played at blind man's buff it would be a failure and they alone would be responsible.

DAN HOUSTON'S TRIAL.

THE BALKWILL BURGLARY CASE BEFORE THE COUNTY COURT

The Witnesses for the Crown and Defence—Henry Tragenzie's Veracity Questioned—Case Not Finished.

Dan Houston was arraigned before deputy judge S. S. Lazier to day on a charge of burglarizing S. R. Balkwill's store on 21st of September, and stealing about $1,000 worth of champagne and cigars. The goods were afterwards found in a woods in Sidney. There was a large attendance at the court house when the trial opened. Geo. E. Henderson, Q. C., conducted the case for the crown, while S. B. Burdett, M. P., defended the prisoner. The witness for the prosecution are: John Gilbert, J. R. Mikel, Deputy Sheriff Geo Hope, Chief Newton, Sheriff Hope, Geo. Sinfield, Cas. Vandewaters, Thos. Stewart, Henry Traganzie, Walter Rush, Geo. Graves, John Henderson, John McCrudden, E. Guss Porter, Thos. Wims and J. Macnamara. Those subpoened for the defence were Alf. Gauthier, Edward Traver, Manley Farley, Robt. Graham, K. Graham, Jas. Farley, Wm. Yates, David Hudson and Wm. McGaughey.

Geo. Hope was first put in the box and testified that he was in possession of the shop and premises of S. R. Balkwill on the evening of the 20th and the morning of the 21st of September, the time at which the goods were stolen. He made a thorough investigation that morning and saw waggon tracks in the rear lane and also footprints of a good sized man. He immediately informed the chief of police who after a little search went to Mr. McCaughey's house on the front of Sidney believing that the goods had been taken by Dan Houston. He was afterwards informed by a constable that the goods had been traced to a place in Ketcheson's woods, a couple of miles west of the city. He also spoke of visiting Mr. Gilbert's house, who stated that he did not think his rig had been used during the night. Tom Wims also said that the waggon had not been used during the night.

Cross examined by Mr. Burdett—"If Wims tells a different story in the box from what he told me at Gilbert's, he will either be telling a falsehood then or now. Have known Dan Houston for several years; never knew anything bad against him; have also known Henry Traganzie for same length of time; from his reputation I would not believe him under oath.

John Gilbert stated that Dan Houston had on the 15th of September applied to him for the loan of his waggon. He stated that he wanted to go into the County and was going to get Judge Fralick's horse. He did not know himself that Houston had the waggon on the 20th, although his servant had told him that was the case.

When cross examined, he stated that he had know Dan Houston for some eight years and had always known him as a "jolly good fellow." Mr. Gilbert had heard that Traganzie did not bear a very good reputation.

J. R. Mikel stated that he was a resident of Belleville, and lived on Ann street and had seen Dan Houston with another man on the morning of the robbery driving down the street and turn into Mr. Gilbert's yard. Thos. Wims was the man with him and was driving. He said "good morning" to the men in the rig. He said farther. "I noticed that the horse was in a bad state of perperation and looked as if it had just been pulled out of the river.

Henry Traganzie, sworn, said: Live about 4 miles from Belleville; remember seeing Dan Houston on the morning of the robbery; have known him for ten years; it was a Friday morning—the 21st day of September when I first saw him; he was standing behind the wagon near Sindfield's crossing; it was about four o'clock; at that time I was on the railway crossing and only a few yards from him; the wagon looked as if it contained boxes or blocks of wood, saw the men turn around a heap of gravel and Dan Houston lifted down the rails of the fence and passed through the adjoining field and lifted down another fence leading into a clearing, which is generally called a woods, belonging to the residents; after this I had breakfast and then went down to Younge's and continued down to Sampson Younge's where I met Dan Houston coming towards the city, together with another man. There was nothing in the waggon except the two men. Dan Housten disguised himself with a handkerchief and one hand was resting on his knee; he appeared to be trying to hide his person. Dan Houston never approached me in reference to the case except to state that he hoped I would not be hard on him.

Thos. Wims sworn said: Was in the employ of J. Gilbert on the night of the 20th, on the following morning I was coming from home when Dan Houston overtook me near Geo. Brown's carriage factory; he wanted me to get in and have a drive; he was alone in the rig; I got in and drove to Mr. Gilbert's house. He told me that the horse belonged to Judge Fralick, and after leaving the rig at Gilbert he took the horse with him.

Cross examined by Mr Burdett: Houston told me that he had just returned from taking a woman to Trenton; did not think it remarkable that he should come around by that road on his return trip.

Chas. Row, sworn, said: Know Dan Hauston; had occasion to go in Mr. Porter's office in reference to some business of mine the night previous to the robbery in Balkwill's store Saw Houston that night about five o'clock in the evening. Never saw him after that.

Cross examined by Mr. Burdett, stated that Tregenzie bore a bad reputation in that neighborhood, and he did not think he could believe him under oath.

The court adjourned for dinner until 2. p. m.

Death of Mr. John Carscallen.

The remains of John Carscallen who died in Philadelphia on Saturday morning arrived here last night in charge of deceased son and son-in-law. The funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of Mr. Adam Henry, Front Street. The late Mr. Carscallen was sixty years of age, and was a resident of Belleville many years ago. He was born on the front of Thurlow, and was a brother of Edward Carscallen. Deceased was a well-known contractor here many years ago and was highly esteemed for his many excellant traits of character. His wife preceded him to the grave seven years ago. Death was caused from consumption.

Origin of Swearing.

The brother of the fairy Pari Banou was only thirty inches high. His beard was thirty two feet long and extended horizontally in front of him as he walked. He invented swearing to express his feelings when poor biscuit was set on his table. His wife could always make biscuit to please him by using Imperial Cream Tartar Baking Powder.

The Rev. W. S. Smith, B.D., of Centreville, was appointed by the Kingston Presbytery to preach and declare vacant the churches of Roslin and Thurlow yesterday. This vacancy is caused through the removal of Rev. Mr. Kelso to Western Ontario.

THE HOLY FAMILY.

An Eloquent Sermon in St. Michael's by Father O'Gorman

The Rev. Father O'Gorman preached in St. Michael's new church last evening, and his sermon was both practical and eloquent. He took his text from The Apocalypse VII chap. and 9th verse "I saw a great multitude which no man could number, of all nations and tribes and people and tongues, standing before the throne, and in sight of the Lamb." His introduction consisted of a beautiful and graphic description of the blessed gathered around the throne of the Lamb, clothed in white robes and bearing in their hands the palms of victory and of triumph. In the body of his instruction he refuted two objections which Christrians, he said, often use as excuses for not imitating the lives of the saints upon earth. Nobody could help admiring the manner in which he treated this part of his discourse, his language at times being truly eloquent, and yet intelligible to the most illiterate throughout. He explained what true sanctity consists in, and pointed out the most practical and the most efficacious means of acquiring it. In conclusion he asked a series of touching questions regarding the number of those of whom it could be said with truth—they are imitating the saints. He urged upon all the necessity of humble, constant, fervent prayer as the one grand means ordained by God for enabling them to follow in the footsteps of the Holy Ones who had gone before.

The occasion of last night's sermon was the monthly meeting of the Holy Family. The Holy family is a body of the faithful belonging to the church, united together by certain rules and regulations for the purpose of endeavouring to imitate the virtues practiced by Jesus, Mary and Joseph in their humble home at Nazareth. They meet once a month when practical instructions are addressed to them by the clergy. The Rev. Father O'Gorman appears to take special pleasure in looking after the association.

The Northwest Legislature which opened its first session in Regina last week is an important body. Two of the members were formerly from this district. Mr. J. F. Betts, Prince Albert, is a son of Rev. L. A. Betts, of Brockville, Ont. He was borne at Stirling, Ont. in 1854, and went to the Prince Albert country in 1879. He is a merchant and a J. P. at Prince Albert, and chairman of the Public School Board. Is against the permit system, and favors the licensing of beer. He is a Conservative. H. C. Wilson (Edmonton) is a descendant of the U. E. Loyalists, and was born in Picton, Ont., in 1959. He was educated at Upper Canada College, and entered Trinity Medical College, Toronto, where he graduated in 1881, went to the Northwest in 1882, and was first elected to the Northwest Council in 1885.

A "Put and Call."

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvelous. It cures the worst cough, whether acute, lingering, or chronic. For weak lungs, Spitting of Blood, Short Breath, Consumption, Night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines.

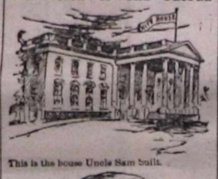
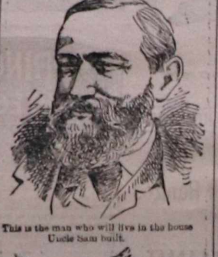
BEN HARRISON!

The Man Who Will Live in the House Uncle Sam Built.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE



This is the house Uncle Sam built.



This is the man who will live in the house Uncle Sam built.

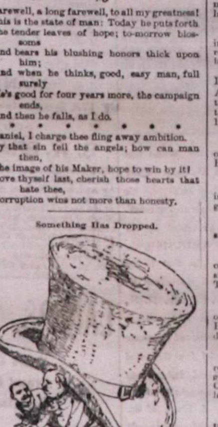
This very fat fellow has suffered a rout,
And much to his sorrow will have to get out
To make room for the man who will live in the house
Uncle Sam built.

This is the bill that encompassed the rout
Of the very fat man who will have to get out
To make room for the man who will live in the house
Uncle Sam built.

Cleveland's Soliloquy.

Farewell, a long farewell, to all my greatness!
This is the state of man: To-day he puts forth
The tender leaves of hope; to-morrow blossoms
And bears his blushing honors thick upon him;
And when he thinks, good, easy man, full surely
He's good for four years more, the campaign ends,
And then he falls, as I do.
Daniel, I charge thee fling away ambition.
By that sin fell the angels; how can man then,
The image of his Maker, hope to win by it!
Love thyself last, cherish those hearts that hate thee,
Corruption wins not more than honesty.

Something Has Dropped.



G. C.—Daniel, did you hear anything drop!
D. L.—Yes, sire.
G. C.—And what was it, do you think?
D. L.—I fear, sire, that it was grandfather's hat.

PRESIDENT HARRISON.

The Republican Candidate Elected — A Close Contest.

The returns of yesterday's election in the United States received up to the hour of going to press leave the result involved in considerable uncertainty, with a strong probability, however, of Harrison's election.

There is nothing to indicate that any of the states counted upon as "sure" for either party have furnished any surprises.

The South is solidly Democratic and the North, with the exception of Connecticut, Indiana, New Jersey and New York, is certainly Republican.

Of the four states which have been classed as doubtful, New Jersey has probably given the Cleveland electors a plurality. The Democrats claim 8000 plurality. Since the organization of the Republican party New Jersey has always been Democratic in a Presidential election except in 1872, when Gen. Grant received a majority of 14,570 over Horace Greeley.

Connecticut has also gone Democratic by about 450 majority.

The returns from Indiana are meagre, indicating Republican gains, and the state is claimed by both parties. The New York Herald says there is every indication that the state has gone Democratic.

As so often before New York determines the result. Returns from New York and Kings Counties complete and from half the balance of the state indicate that Harrison has carried the day by about 12,000 majority and is elected President.

The very latest returns ensure a Republican plurality in New York and render certain the election of Harrison and Morton.

If the results are as indicated above the ballot of the Electoral College will be cast as follows:

Total Number of Votes 401

A UNIQUE FEATURE.

The Vote in Cleveland's Home—How It Looks at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6.—A unique feature of the contest which closed this evening was the vote of this city and county. This, Erie County, is reckoned as safe for 3000 Republican majority. It gave Harrison for President about 2000, but Hill, the Democratic candidate for Governor, carries it by 5000, receiving the solid saloon vote.

It would seem that Harrison has carried New York State by 12,000 and is elected President. Returns from New York and Kings Counties complete and from half of the balance of the State are to this effect and there is nothing in the returns as they come to hand to indicate that places yet to report will alter the estimate given herein.

Connecticut is very close and is claimed by both sides with the possibility that it will take the official vote to decide.

Indiana sends meagre returns but these indicate that Harrison has secured the State by a small plurality.

New Jersey is Democratic.

The Western and Northwestern States, including Michigan have in the ... of light returns received remained true to their Republican allegiance.

There is some doubt as to Virginia and West Virginia, but the Democrats claim both states.

THE MAJORITIES.

Latest Returns from the Various States—The Solid South.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 6.—Returns have been received from different points in all the districts and show a solid Democratic delegation to Congress. Cleveland's majority will be as large as in 1884, when it was 32,457.

North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 6—The vote in this state was by far the largest ever polled. The returns so far show that the Democrats are making gains.

South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 6.—No disturbance at the polls and nothing to indicate a decrease in the Democratic majority of 1884, when Cleveland's majority was 48,031.

Georgia.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—Indications are that Cleveland's majority in his State is about 25,000. The solid Democratic congressional delegation is elected.

Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6—Harrison's plurality is 4000.

New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—Harrison has carried New Hampshire. Goodell (Rep.) has been elected Governor; the Republicans have carried both congressional districts and have secured control of the Legislature.

Maine.

AUGUSTA, ME., Nov. 6.—Blaine has sent the following telegram to Gen. Harrison: Returns thus far received indicate that Maine has given you a majority of 23,000. It will be more rather than less.

New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 6.—The Hudson County Democrats made almost a clean sweep. Their Presidential electors will have fully 6000 majority, thus assuring the State for Cleveland.

Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Returns are coming in slowly. On the basis of gains shown by the returns from 20 precincts the Republicans will have a plurality of about 3500 in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Thirty precincts in Indiana show net Republican gains of 575. At this rate the plurality for the Republican ticket will be over 25,000. Republicans at the committee rooms now claim the state by 12,000.

Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—Fifty-one towns out of a total of 1200 in Wisconsin show a net Republican gain of 344.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Returns coming in slowly. Much scratching, nothing can be given at present.

Florida.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Herald Bulletin says Florida is probably Democrat by 1500.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Chairman Cooper of the Republican State Committee claims the state for Harrison by about 90,000 majority. This would be a Republican gain of 9000.

New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—1023 election districts outside of New York and King's counties give Harrison a plurality of 47,695, in the same districts Blaine's plurality was 36,749.

Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—Complete returns from Connecticut, except one town gives the following result: Harrison 74,407, Cleveland 74,815. It is estimated that Cleveland's majority will be 400 in the State.

Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 6.—No definite returns can be had from the State to-night. It has gone Democratic by a reduced majority.

Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 7.—The congressional delegation will be unchanged. The State gives about the usual Democratic majority on the national ticket.

Michigan.

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Estimates from Democratic sources agree with those of the Republicans on national and state tickets, but differ on the result in the congressional districts. It is conceded that Harrison has carried the state by about 12,000, and that Luce (Rep.) will have some 3000 less for Governor.

Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 7.—The Republican State Central Committee claim the State for Harrison by 25,000.

Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 7.—The Republicans claim the election of the National and State tickets by 8000.

West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 7.—The chairmen of both the State Committies claim the State. This city is not to be counted before 11 a.m. to-day. The result in the State will probably not be known before Thursday.

In the Cities.

Cleveland's plurality in New York City is 56,000.

Boston gives Cleveland a plurality of 8847.

Cleveland carries Chicago by from 5000 to 6000. In 1884 Blaine carried the city by 2890.

Brooklyn gives Cleveland 11,541 plurality.

Buffalo gives a Republican majority of 1509, a gain of 456 over 1884.

The Next President.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—The city is wild with enthusiasm over the reports from New York. Gen. Harrison is receiving the returns in his library surrounded only by his family, Gen. Miller, his law partner, and a few intimate friends. He is being deluged with despatches congratulating him on his prospects but will not make them public to-night.

Congress Republican.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Tribune bulletin says the next House of Representatives will be Republican by 20 to 25 majority.

Gotham's New Mayor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The New York City Press Association says Grant's (Tammany Democrat) election is assured by from 20,000 to 25,000.

From Chairman Quay.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—The following has just been received by General Harrison:
We have New York.
(Signed) M. S. QUAY.

Election Notes.

Of the five great morning papers of the City of New York four of them were strong advocates of the re-election of Cleveland. Only one of them, The Tribune, favored the election of Harrison. The World, The Herald, The Times and The Sun were all Cleveland papers.

There seems to be good reason for believing that a deal was made between the local managers in the City of New York to this effect, namely, that if the Democratic managers could induce their followers to vote for Harrison certain other Republican managers would bring their followers over to Hill for governor of the State of New York. Practically this was what was called "knifing" Cleveland, and it seems to have been practised very largely throughout the State.

The election of Grant as Mayor of New York is a triumph for Tammany Hall and gives that institution the large patronage of the city.

William D. Hoard, the Butter candidate for Governor of Wisconsin, is elected by a large majority.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS.

Democratic Supremacy Sacrificed to Personal Ambition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Herald this morning says: "At the hour of going to press with our first edition the probabilities indicate the election of General Harrison. This opinion is based upon despatches received from all the states in the Union and which may be divided as follows:

"Cleveland—Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and West Virginia—168.

"Harrison—Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, and Wisconsin—207.

"Doubtful—California, Nevada, Indiana—26.

"Conceding the votes of Connecticut and New Jersey to Mr. Cleveland and regarding Indiana, California and Nevada as doubtful, Gen. Harrison has a majority in the electoral college.

"The figures show the election of David B. Hill as governor and of Hugh J. Grant as mayor. Mr. Hill has made a strong canvass.

"The nomination of Mr. Hewitt had the effect which his supporters principally intended, namely: the defeat of Mr. Cleveland by the division of the Democratic forces in New York.

"The political lesson of the election is that the national supremacy of the Democratic party has been sacrificed to the ambition of David B. Hill and A. S. Hewitt, and the fact which Democrats throughout the country should lay to heart is that in this game of politics their possession of the imperial patronage of New York City is of far more importance than the government of the Union."

Won't Give Up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Times says: "At 1 o'clock a.m. the election returns received by The Times from the interior of the State show diminishing gains for Harrison, and it is by no means certain that the full returns will not altogether destroy the plurality that the early returns indicate for him, and give the State to Cleveland."

The World says: As this edition of The World goes to press (2 a. m.) the indications are that Harrison has carried the State of New York by a small plurality—3000 to 5000.

Somebody Was Educated.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Sun this morning says: "When a party deliberately buries out of sight the principles on which it was founded and of which it has been for a century the custodian and trustee; when it runs some of its best men to the rear, and surrenders the management of its affairs to a syndicate of cracked intellects, theorist-enthusiasts, with just enough shrewdness to half disguise their ultimate purpose; when it abandons politics in the sane sense and makes itself an engine for the propagation of a theory, in short when it goes in for an educational canvass somebody is bound to be educated.

"That is what happened yesterday. The great mass of the Democracy, sound to the core, loyal as ever to the essential and eternal truths of its creed, hopeful even in defeat and courageous and unshaken this dismal November morning, is the victim of the educational campaign. It has been educated with a vengeance and at a tremendous cost. It has learned its lesson and is not likely to forget the same.

President and Vice-President.

BENJAMIN HARRISON. LEVI P. MORTON.

Benjamin Harrison of Indiana was born in 1833—fifty-five years ago. A lawyer by profession. Served in the war and came out of it a general. He was married in 1851 and has two children, a boy and a girl. United States Senator for Indiana. He is a Presbyterian and a Protectionist.

Levi P. Morton of New York was born in Vermont in 1824—sixty-four years ago. His father was a minister, he was brought up in a store; became a successful Boston merchant, then a banker in New York and London. Has been Minister to France and Congressman. A Protectionist.

A Peculiar Death.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—A report received here from Lachine states that a well known Canadian lady named F. Caisse has just died under peculiar circumstances. A few weeks ago she took ill and the services of a leading physician were secured. She grew worse and died. A number of reports began to be circulated throughout the locality that the lady had died through the ignorance of the doctors, who, it was alleged, had not properly treated her. As Mrs. Caisse was about to become an heiress to a large fortune, it is feared that something has been done, so the report says, to shorten her days. An inquest will be held and the whole matter thoroughly sifted.

BACKVILLE'S REAL SIN.

His Recall Was Not Based on the Murchison Letter.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The papers in the Sackville case were made public this evening. The first is a letter from Lord Salisbury to Lord Sackville, dated Oct. 27. It is as follows:

"Mr. Phelps, who is staying at my house, informs me that Mr. Bayard's request for your recall is not based upon the letter to Murchison, but upon a newspaper interview. I replied that I was glad it was not true that the request was due to the writing of the letter, which was made public only by a betrayal of confidence, and it was hardly practicable to lay down the principle that a diplomatic representative should be prohibited from expressing even privately any opinion upon events passing in the country to which he is accredited. The language of an interview is different. You must be taken as having intended it for publication. Before admitting the need for a recall I was bound, in justice to you, to know exactly what the alleged objectionable language was. I therefore asked Mr. Phelps for a copy of the interview in order to ascertain from you whether you had been accurately reported, and I told him I would then bring the matter before my colleagues. Mr. Phelps replied that he had not received the text of the interview, but would take steps to procure it. It was consequently understood that until the copy was received there should be no answer to the request for your recall."

On Oct. 28 Lord Sackville sent the following communication to Lord Salisbury:

"The letter was a political Republican plot. I have mailed an explanation. The plot was due to the approaching election. If my recall is demanded, I beg to express deep regret at what has occurred."

On Oct. 30, Lord Sackville cabled that he had received a passport.

On Oct. 31 Phelps informed Lord Salisbury that the United States Government had given Lord Sackville a passport, and added that President Cleveland hoped that another minister would be sent to Washington. On the same day Lord Sackville sent the following despatch to Lord Salisbury:

"I beg to repudiate Mr. Bayard's statement of the reasons for my dismissal as an unjust attack on my integrity."

JUDGE PATTERSON SWORN IN.

The Hearing of the Manitoba Crossing Case Fixed for Nov. 21.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The Supreme Court did not meet until after 1 o'clock to-day when Judge Patterson was sworn in by Chief Justice Ritchie and took his seat on the bench.

Mr. Gormully, on behalf of Attorney-General Martin, applied for fixing a date for hearing the case submitted by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council on the crossing question, and after a short discussion Wednesday, Nov. 21, was fixed.

The Joliette election case was then taken up and the argument was not concluded when the court rose.

Mr. Cassels, Registrar of the Supreme Court, recently dismissed a motion to quash the appeal in the Manitoba case of Shields v. Leacock, involving the settlement of the affairs of the Northwest Lumber Co. Yesterday Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., renewed the application on behalf of the respondent before Judge Fournier in chambers. Judgment was reserved.

Judge Wurtele will be transferred from Aylmer to Montreal on Nov. 20.

The Marriage Declared Off.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—About 1½ years ago a glassblower named Gardner came to Montreal and obtained employment in the American glass works in the East End. He became acquainted with a young lady who resides on ...-street. From mere acquaintance the parties fell in love and marriage was resolved on. On the morning of the intended wedding the prospective bride was informed that Gardner had a wife and several children in England. The marriage has been declared off.

A Narrow Escape.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—Mary, the 7-year-old daughter of Wm. May, miller, of St. Thomas, had a narrow escape Saturday morning from instant death. When near the elevator her dress was caught by the end of the shaft of the pulley and she was dragged towards the pulley and whirled round and round, her head striking violently against the floor several times. She was rescued before life was extinct, and it is thought she will recover.

An Action for $20,000 Damages.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—An action for damages of $20,000 has been taken by Hon. James Armstrong of Sorel against the Hochelaga Cotton Company. The action is based on Judge Armstrong's arrest on a charge of criminal libel in connection with the remarks made by him during the session of the Labor Commission here.

A Suit for Damages.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 6.—Annie Towers of Hibbert, Perth County, who was injured by being caught in the shafting at the late fair, has placed the matter in the hands of Messrs. Meredith, Morehead & Judd, who have served the Western Fair Board with a writ for damages.

Algoma's Potato Liar.

LITTLE CURRENT, Nov. 6.—James Stone of the Township of Mills planted three quarters of an acre with potatoes, from which he has dug over 200 bushels, some of the potatoes weighing 4 pounds. One hill yielded 103 potatoes, 65 of which were fit for table.

Windsor's Inducement to the C. P. R.

WINDSOR, Nov. 6.—The Council has passed a by-law for the benefit of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, granting exemption for ten years on condition that they build an independent line from London to Windsor before August, 1890.

A Totally Blind Prospective Lawyer.

At Osgood Hall the other day the article students were formally admitted under graduates of the Law Society by a committee of the Benchers. Amongst the students was Mr. William Stewart, B. A., of Queen's University, and his admission was unique in the history of the Law Society of Upper Canada. He is permanently blind, having met with that terrible affliction in Montreal in 1878, through smallpox, which he contracted in the summer of that year. He had just graduated, and was making preparations to move to Toronto to pursue his legal studies, when he was overcome by the blight in his career. He is now determined, notwithstanding his blindness, to become a barrister-at-law, in the study for which he will be assisted by a large number of his fellow-students of old Queen's. The Law Society will be asked to examine Mr. Stewart orally at the various examinations, and if they accede his friends are quite confident that three years from hence he will be enrolled amongst the gentlemen of the long robe in Ontario.

THE WORLD OF LONDON.

GOSSIP ABOUT GREAT MEN AND GREATER MEN.

The Appointment of a Successor to Lord Sackville Likely to be Indefinitely Postponed—A Story of Gladstone.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—I think it is fair betting that there is not a man in the Queen's dominions who, during the last twenty years, has spent so many nights in railway travel as has her majesty's eldest son. During his Indian tour all the prince's railway journeys were made by night. Look at his recent record. On one night he travels by rail from Roumania to Vienna, the following night he spends in the train on his way to the shooting grounds, he shoots all day, comes back the same night to Vienna without a break, quits Vienna by night on a journey to Paris, and travels by night from Paris to London. The night between Friday and Saturday of that week he spent traveling from London to Balmoral; the night between Monday and Tuesday of last week he spent on the return journey to town, and his royal highness is never fitter than after a night of railway travel. He seems to rise from his railway couch adequately refreshed—certainly in excellent form for either pleasure or business. There are few who will not envy the royal traveler his ironclad nerves. The Prince went to Sandringham on Friday afternoon to join the Princess and the three princesses, who, after witnessing Baldwin's descent at Alexandria palace last Tuesday, returned to their country residence. His Royal Highness will now live at Sandringham, with little intermission, till about the end of February, though he will spend a few days at Marlborough House next month and also pay a visit to Windsor just before Christmas. On Friday evening the Prince and Princess will give their annual ball to the country people of Norfolk in celebration of His Royal Highness' birthday. A large and distinguished house party will be entertained till Monday, when the Prince goes on a visit to Derby.

The United States Government having thought proper to send Lord Sackville a "safe conduct," to use Secretary Bayard's expression, the representation of Great Britain at Washington passes abruptly from a diplomatist of 40 years' experience to a junior secretary with the commission of charge d'affaires. Mr. Herbert, who now holds that position, is a brother of Lord Pembroke and of Lady de Grey. He is only in his 31st year. The first secretary of the British legation in Washington, Mr. Edwards, Lord Kensington's brother, is in England, and was not expected to return to America. But, possibly under the altered condition of affairs, he now will take over the duties of charge d'affaires from Mr. Herbert, as the appointment of a successor to Lord Sackville is likely to be indefinitely postponed.

Miss Phipps, Miss Cavendish, Miss Drummond and Miss Moore have no intention whatever of renouncing the fortune left them by the late Lord Sackville. The uncertainty which prevails as to the precise terms of the bequest has caused a number of other ladies, not equally lucky, to receive premature congratulations from their friends. It is Lady Derby, Lord Sackville's sister, who has entered a caveat against the will. Her solicitors are sanguine of success.

Lord Tennyson, who is still in Surrey, has been sick for some months, and was so seriously ill at the beginning of last week that grave apprehensions were felt by his family for the moment. The most urgent symptoms have passed away, but he is still very prostrate and weak. The attack he suffered from, after developing symptoms of rheumatic gout, suddenly assumed those of rheumatic fever. His weakness and age still causes his family great uneasiness.

Notwithstanding the favorable bulletins of the Speaker which have appeared since his return from Switzerland, I have reason to believe that his health is still in a very unsatisfactory state. It is in the highest degree improbable that he will be able to occupy the chair next year. Sir Matthew White Ridley will most likely succeed Mr. Peel, and be the first Conservative Speaker since 1835.

A curiously characteristic story of Gladstone is told as having occurred during the summer. Gladstone had occasion to come into contact with Frederick Harrison, who had just published his study of Oliver Cromwell. A good deal of conversation took place on the book, and Gladstone asked Harrison if he really considered Cromwell a very great man. Harrison answered warmly in the affirmative, giving his reasons, and in return asked Gladstone what was his estimate of the lord protector—what position he would assign him in the political hierarchy. Gladstone is said to have replied: "Well, somewhere after Lord Althorp."

A correspondent writes to ask me who invents the reports circulated with so much gusto, at intervals, that Lord Randolph Churchill is in a very bad state of health and means to retire from public life. The story last appeared in what is supposed to be a friendly quarter at Birmingham. Lord Randolph was never in better health in his life than at this moment.

Nobody can have been surprised at the result of the prosecution at the Old Bailey of Vizetelly, the publisher of certain notorious translations of some of the worst and most offensive of Zola's novels. On neither the legal principles or the questions of fact involved in the case was there any room for doubt or hesitation. Nothing can be clearer than that the publication of what is technically termed an obscene libel—that is, an indecent or immoral book or writing—is a misdemeanor, or that such works as La Terre, or Pot Bouille, or Nana, are in the highest degree immoral, indecent and obscene. It must, however, be confessed that the literary censorship has been of late years so uncertain and capricious that Vizetelly may very possibly have imagined that he was not breaking the law. When he knew that unredeemed, unmitigated filth, like that contained in Maiden Tribute of Modern Babylon, could be hawked about the streets with impunity he may have supposed that Zola's productions would be tolerated.

The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough leave England shortly to pass the winter at Monte Carlo, where they have taken a villa for five months. The duke has sold his fine house, Palace Gate, to Mr. Labouchere, as the duchess prefers to reside at Carlton house terrace.

The pictures at the institute are rather depressing. There are 629 all told, none either good enough or bad enough to be worth much critical powder and shot. The painters, while more or less skilful, are not inventive and not original, and cannot even see color and form with their own eyes. The exceptions are John R Reid, to whom nature always appears extraordinarily red in the face; Edwin Ward, who certainly has his own way of looking at a sitter; David Murray, who gives us a pleasant, charmingly natural glimpse of a tall cottage, the chimney peeping through the dusk, with a curtained window dimly glowing on a hillside in the evening; Blair Leighton's work shows increasing power and resource; F. D. Millett's Tender Chord—printed Thunder Cloud in the catalog—is beautifully delicate in color, contrasting strongly with the heavy richness of the President's portraits of Miss Meredith Crosse.

I regret to learn that Lawrence Oliphant's illness, which had taken so favorable a turn that he was preparing to leave Surbiton for his house at Haifa, in Syria, in a few weeks, has now become so grave that but slight hopes are entertained for his eventual recovery.

Mr. Oliphant is suffering from an old affection of the chest. It is now feared that cancerous symptoms have developed themselves. His condition is pronounced very critical.

A GRAVE QUESTION.

The Hon. William McDougall has a letter in The Mail on the Manitoba railway question, in which he ably reveiws this constitutional question. His opinion is that of one of the ablest authorities on constitutional law in the Dominion, being himself one of the framers of the British North America Act of 1867. He points out the grave consequences to the other provinces involved in an adverse decision against a sister province in a matter which concerns them in an equal degree, but in the discussion they have no voice, and adds "The constitutional rights of every province of the Dominion are about to be dealt with, if not determined, by summary process before our highest court, at the instance of a railway corporation seeking to re-establish a monopoly which it had publicly surrendered for valuable consideration, and the youngest and weakest province of the Confederation is left to defend the rights of all without joinder of its co defendants, and even without notice to them!

I confess this mode of dealing with the common rights of seven corporate bodies having a community of interest strikes me as a new departure in judicial procedure. It is laid down in the books that "all parties materially interested in the subject of a suit in equity should be made parties however numerous." "There need be no connection but community of interests." "In general, all persons interested in the subject matter of a suit who cannot be made defendants should be made plaintiffs." The rule is to the same effect in actions ex delicto.

Whether political corporations, standing in the same right, are bound or concluded by an opinion or judgment ad hoc, in a case where they have not been joined as parties may be questioned, but I suspect a decision against Manitoba by the Supreme Court would be treated by the Dominion Government as conclusive and binding on all the provinces.

But there is a previous question which none of the partisians of the C. P. R. Company, or defenders of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council, have so far, attempted to answer. It is this:— What section or clause of the British North America Act authorizes the Supreme Court to arbitrate, or advise upon, a question involving the constitutional rights of all the provinces at the instance of the Railway Committee and the Attorney-General of a single province? We may be told that the Dominion Parliament adopted certain clauses in an Act of last session giving the court power to hear and determine in a summary manner questions of this kind. But when and where did Parliament obtain authority to enact laws restricting or altering in any way the constitutional rights and powers of a Provincial Legislature? And if one of the provinces, by fraud or connivance, or for valuable consideration, should consent to an award of that kind, on what ground can it be pretended that any other province will be bound thereby? I am greatly surprised that Mr. Attorney-General Martin has consented to arbitrate away the constitutional rights and powers of his province, or even to delay their legal enforcement for an hour, on the monstrous pretence of a railway corporation that they have been authorized by Parliament to put a ring fence around a portion of Manitoba which no other corporation, even with the authority of Manitoba's Legislature and Government, shall be permitted to cross! Every province of the Dominion is deeply concerned in this struggle. Ontario, especially, cannot afford to look on with indifference. Some of the provinces have apparently acquiesced in the unconstitutional assumption of the Dominion in the matter of provincial work, because the Dominion treasury has been generously substituted for their own. Ontario, the largest contributor to that treasury, and the only province that demands and receives less than she pays in, ought to intervene in the proposed reference. Indeed, all the provinces ought to be invited to appear and take part in the discussion. For although the extemporaneous opinion of the judges on a reference, such as that now agreed upon, will not include the other provinces, they may greatly prejudice the case and embarrass these same judges when the matter comes before them in the regular course of judicial procedure."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

IN a letter to a Boston clergyman, Mr. Gladstone expresses his apprehension for future of the United States owing to the large number of divorces. He says: "My attention had for some time been drawn to the condition of both of law and of practice, touching divorce in some states in the union, and the facts caused me some alarm as to the future of your great country. I contemplate with interest every movement which may bring us nearer to the Christian standard, even without attaining it, a gradual progress being the only one possible and the one ordained. Personally I hold by the law of the whole Western Church, which teaches marriage to be indissoluble, and regard severance a mensa et thora as the expedient allowed in cases where the gravest difficulties may have arisen within the married state."

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it: many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes: "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured.

CATARRH.

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the intrlining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes; the eminent scientists Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr Dixon discovered the parasites in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease. So highly are these remedies valued, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy parasites of which they know nothing, by remedies the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Mr Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son, King Street west, Toronto Canada.—Scientific American

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint culminating in jaundice, is literary "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this symptom there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade, dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humors, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, louses the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $1.00. Sample bottle 10 cents. After ineffectually trying many of the so called remedies for catarrh, I made a trial of Nasal Balm weich gave me instant relief, and since commencing its use I daily note the beneficial changes it is producing after a few applications. It changes the unpleasant odor of the virus in the throat and the poisonous secretion over which every breath must pass. To anything troubled it is a priceless medicine,

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

W. T. McINTYRE,
General Agent,
DEAR SIR,—I wish to tender you my hearty and sincere thanks for the very prompt and honorable way in which you paid the claim of $1,000 on the life of my late husband, Sterling C. Edwards, of Belleville, Ont., without any waiting for the usual delay of sixty or ninety days, and from my experience of the Company I can heartily recommend it to the public.
Yours Truly,
MRS S. C. EDWARDS,
Belleville, Oct. 30th, 1888.

There are 165 Cities in the World that contain over one hundred thousand inhabitants, and there are a hundred and the ailments brought on by an overworked constitution, which might be prevented by the timely use of PUTTNER'S EMULSION,

It is in diseases of this origin that it has achieved and is achieving such marvellous results. Rev. R. T. Brine, Pugwash, N. S., says: "Being fully convinced that sufferers from exhaustion, brain weakness, and rheumatic attacks, will gain speedy relief from the use of PUTTNER'S EMULSION. I feel it a duty to make known to such its remarkable effects on my system." Dr. H. J. Fixot, of St. Peters, C. B., says: "Judging from the result obtained from Puttner's Emulsion in the course of my practice, I cordially recommend it to possess all the virtues ascribed to it as a medicine."

Young and growing children thrive on PUTTNER'S EMULSION. For sale by all dealers at 50c.

WHAT IS IT IN MEAT THAT STRENGTHENS?
THE ALBUMEN IT CONTAINS.

This substance beyond all question is the most important constituent of Flesh. OUR TISSUES are entirely dependent upon Albumen for their repair, and our blood in order to be healthy must contain in it not less than seven per cent. SCIENTIFIC ANALYSIS has clearly demonstrated that contains all the nutriment without a single exception necessary for the formation of Flesh, Muscle and Bone. 55 per cent of Organic Matter or Flesh Forming Material; 13 per cent of Mineral Salts or Phosphates. It must be evident therefore to the intelligent public that JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF has the first claim as a nutrition and strength [illegible] best.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets — The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.

SICK HEADACHE,

Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

Consumption Surely Cured.

TO THE EDITOR:

Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their Express and P. O. address.

Respectfully, DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 37 Yonge street, Toronto, Ont.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., wholesale agents, Montreal.

If the [illegible] from Consumption, Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophites, they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal., writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and wasting diseases. It is very palatable." Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Eczema, Itchy, Scaly, Skin Tortures.

The simple application of "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT," without any internal medicine, will cure any case of Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Piles, Itch, Sores, Pimples, Eczema, all Scaly, Itchy Skin Eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal.

A Canoe Race—The Indians.

The race-track starter is the man who is taken at his word.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.

The Growth of the Hair.

Should always be watched. Inattention of the hair often leads to premature grayness or baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all Druggists everywhere.

AUTHOR OF "KING SOLOMON'S MINES," "SHE," "JESS," "THE WITCH'S HEAD," ETC.

our baggage, from the headman of the village we were staying in, presenting him with three empty cold drawn brass cartridges by way of payment, with which he was perfectly delighted, we set out to make a tour of the lake in order to find the most favorable place to make a camp. As we did not know if we should return to this village, we put all our gear into the canoe, and also a quarter of cooked water buck, which when young is delicious eating, and off we set, natives having already gone before us in light canoes to warn the inhabitants of the other villages of our approach.

As we went we began to pass a considerable accumulation of floating rushes, weed, boughs of trees, and other rubbish, brought, Good supposed, to this spot by some current, which he was much puzzled to account for. While we were speculating about this, Sir Henry pointed out a flock of large white swans, which were feeding on the drift some little way ahead of us. Now I had already noticed swans flying about this lake, and having never come across them before in Africa, was exceedingly anxious to obtain a specimen. I had questioned the natives about them, and learned that they came from over the mountain, always arriving at certain periods of the year, in the early morning, when it was very easy to catch them, on account of their exhausted condition.

Well, we set to work to stalk the swans, which kept drawing as they fed nearer and nearer to the precipice, and at last we pushed the canoe under shelter of a patch of drift within forty yards of them. Sir Henry had the shotgun loaded with No. 1, and waiting for a chance, got two in a line, and, firing at their necks, killed them both. Up rose the rest, thirty or more of them, with a mighty splashing, and, as they did so, he gave them the other barrel. Down came one fellow with a broken wing, and I saw the leg of another drop and a few feathers start out of his back, but he went on quite strong. Up went the swans, circling ever higher till at last they were mere specks level with the top of the frowning precipice, when I saw them form into a triangle and head off for the unknown northeast. Meanwhile we had picked up our two dead ones, and beautiful birds they were, weighing not less than about thirty pounds each, and were chasing the winged one, which had scrambled over a mass of drift weed into a pool of clear water beyond. Finding a difficulty in forcing the canoe through the rubbish, I told our only remaining Wakwafi servant, whom I knew to be an excellent swimmer, to jump over, dive under the drift, and catch him, knowing that as there were no crocodiles in this lake he could come to no harm. Entering into the fun of the thing the man did so, and soon was dodging about after the winged swan in fine style, getting gradually nearer to the rock wall, against which the water washed as he did so.

Suddenly he gave up swimming after the swan, and began to cry out that he was being carried away; and indeed we saw that, though he was swimming with all his strength toward us, he was being drawn slowly toward the precipice. With a few desperate strokes of our paddles we pushed the canoe through the crust of drift and rowed toward the man as hard as we could, but, fast as we went, he was drawn faster toward the rock. Suddenly I saw that before us, just rising eighteen inches or so above the surface of the lake, was what looked like the top of the arch of a submerged cave or railway tunnel. Evidently, from the water mark on the rock several feet above it, it was generally entirely submerged; but there had been a dry season, and the cold had prevented the snow from melting as freely as usual, so the lake was low and the arch showed. Toward this arch our poor servant was being sucked with frightful rapidity. He was not more than twenty paces from it, and we were about thirty when I saw it, and with little help from us the canoe flew along after him. He struggled bravely, and I thought that we should have saved him, when suddenly I perceived an expression of despair come upon his face, and there before our eyes he was sucked down into the cruel, swirling, blue depths, and vanished; at the same moment I felt our canoe seized as with a mighty hand and propelled with resistless force toward the rock.

We realized our danger now, and rowed, or rather paddled, furiously in our attempt to get out of the vortex. In vain; in another second we were flying straight for the arch like an arrow, and I thought that we were lost. Luckily, I retained sufficient presence of mind to shout out, instantly setting the example by throwing myself into the bottom of the canoe, "Down on your faces—down!" and the others had the sense to take the hint. In another instant there was a grinding noise, and the boat was pushed down till the water began to trickle over the sides, and I thought that we were gone. But no; suddenly the grinding ceased, and we could again feel the canoe flying along. I turned my head a little—I dared not lift it—and looked up. By the feeble light that yet reached the canoe I could make out that a dense arch of rock hung just over our heads, and that was all. In another minute I could not even make out as much as that, for the faint light had merged into shadow, and the shadows had been swallowed up in darkness utter and complete.

For an hour or so we lay there, not daring to lift our heads for fear lest the brains should be dashed out of them, and scarcely able to speak even, on account of the noise of the rushing water which drowned our voices. Not, indeed, that we had much inclination to speak, seeing that we were overwhelmed by the awfulness of our position and the imminent fear of instant death, either by being dashed against the sides of the cavern or on a rock, or being sucked down in the raging waters, or perhaps asphyxiated by want of air. All of these and many other modes of death presented themselves to my imagination as I lay at the bottom of the canoe listening to the swirl of the hurrying waters, which ran whither we knew not. One other sound only could I hear, and that was Alphonse's intermittent howl of terror coming from the center of the canoe, and even that seemed faint and unreal. Indeed the whole thing overpowered my brain, and I began to believe that I was the victim of some ghastly, spirit shaking nightmare.

CHAPTER X.

THE ROSE OF FIRE.

On we flew, drawn by the mighty current, till at last I noticed that the sound of the water was not half so deafening as it had been, and concluded that this must be because there was more room for the echoes to disperse in. I could now hear Alphonse's howls much more distinctly; they were made up of the oddest mixture of invocations to the Supreme Power and the name of his beloved Annette that it is possible to conceive; and, in short, though their evident earnestness saved them from profanity, were, to say the least, very remarkable. Taking up a paddle, I managed to drive it into his ribs, whereon he, thinking that the end had come, howled louder than ever. Then I slowly and cautiously raised myself on my knees and stretched my hand upward, but could touch no roof. Next I took the paddle and lifted it above my head as high as I could, but with the same result. I also thrust it out laterally to the right and left, but could touch nothing except water. Then I bethought me that there was in the boat, among our other remaining possessions, a bull's eye lantern and a tin of oil. I groped about and found it, and having a match on me, carefully lit it,

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

I have had catarrh for twenty years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith, druggist, of Little Falls, recommended Ely's Cream Balm. The effect of the first application was magical, it allayed the inflammation and the next morning my head was clear as a bell. One bottle has done me so much good that I am convinced its use will effect a permanent cure. It is soothing [illegible] easy to apply and I strongly [illegible] al sufferers.—Geo. Terry.

OPHTHALMOSCOPIC

TEST LENSES

Will Detect all Visual Defects

A SCIENTIFIC and practical instrument is used for detecting all optical defects of the eye and determining the lenses needed for their correction.

As we use this instrument in adjusting spectacles and eye glasses, we can guarantee satisfaction to our customers in all cases of Myopia or near sight, Hyperopia, or far sight, Presbyopia, or old sight, and Astigmatism, or poor sight, caused by oval eyes which cause some figures on a clock dial at fifteen feet to look darker than others.

This instrument measures each eye separately; a method which all oculists agree is the proper one.

In our experience many persons have been found to have eyes that are unlike, this is requiring lenses of different magnifying or diminishing power for each eye, which combined in one frame will give distinct normal vision.

Persons who have had difficulty in obtaining Spectacles to suit them, are cordially invited to call, and acquaint themselves with the merits of this instrument.

Spectacles and eye glasses always in stock of the several grades in frames of Steel, Rubber, Nickle, Celluloid, Silver Gold, and spectacles and eye glasses other than regular goods mounted to order.

A Decrease all Round.

The customs returns at this port for last month show a very large decrease. The decrease in the value of the imports was $2,285, and the falling off in the exports was $30,119.00.

The Hay was not Sold.

Dougal & Stewart, lawyers, Madoc, placed on sale yesterday a large amount of hay belonging to James McCaw of Maynooth, whose goods were seized some time ago by Constable Johnston, under execution. McCaw's indebtedness to the law firm was $300. The sale was postponed as no buyers were present.

A Hunter's Paradise.

J. A. Markell, of this city, who is hunting some fifteen miles back of Haliburton, reports excellent luck. On Friday last the party came up within 90 feet of an enormous black bear, and deer are taken for the shooting. A large party of hunters passed through that village last week, loaded with furs, bear, beaver, otter, martin, fisher, mink, etc.

"Hospital Sunday."

It would be a graceful tribute to the Christian ladies who manage the Hospital and Home, if the city churches would set aside one day in the year as "Hospital Sunday" and give the collections for the benefit of that worthy institution. In Kingston nearly $600 was raised for the hospital in this way. The Ministerial Association should consider this suggestion

The Mayoralty Election.

A rumor was circulated in the city today that Mr. S. B. Burdett, M.P., would offer himself for the mayoralty for 1889. A reporter saw Mr. Burdett, and asked him if the report were true. He stated that he was not a candidate at present, but that if his health permitted he would esteem the honor of being mayor of the city, and would offer himself at some future time.

Belleville will not be Represented.

A special meeting of the school board was called for last night to take the place of the regular meeting next Tuesday, but there was no quorum. Those present were: Irvine Diamond, chairman, Thos. Wills, Rev. M. W. Maclean, Thos. McGinnis, Dr. Tracy, Jas. Martin and W. R. Carmichael. There will therefore be no delegates from here to the Provincial meeting of high and public school trustees at Toronto next Tuesday.

Sale in Stoco

Constable Johnston returned from Stoco yesterday where he seized and disposed of the household effects of one N. J. Tiscott, who was formerly hotelkeeper of that village, but absconded some months ago and left several sorrowing creditors behind. The hotel was sold under mortgage some time ago. The furniture was seized at the instance of Church & Todd, grocers and liquor dealers of Madoc, to whom he was largely indebted.

The McGibney Family.

The photos of this remarkable musical family, whom Mr. Walter T. Donnelly is trying to bring to the city on November 20th, can be seen in J. Brasier's fur store window. In order to secure this company to visit us a considerable guarantee has had to be made and those intending hearing the family will kindly sign the guarantee list at Donnelly's Piano Warerooms where the plan will be opened. Those signing the list will have first choice of seats.

Church Exemptions.

At the meeting of the Young People's Association of John Street church on Monday evening a discussion took place on the exemption from taxation of church property. Dr. Wilde, formerly of this city, once said while preaching in Belleville "that it was all right for those ministers who didn't wish to pay, but he thought that all church property should be taxed, and would pay his as he lived." Rev. Dr. George stated to a reporter last night that he was quite in favor of this idea and thought all property should be taxed.

An Early Blaze

The fire alarm called out the brigade again this morning at 8 o'clock, caused by a chimney blaze at Edward Sprague's house on North Front Street. No. 2 hose cart upset just as it passed over the upper bridge. The alarm at No. 1 station directed the hose carts to Coleman street and a great deal of time was lost through this. Persons giving an alarm should be more cautious about directing the firemen. Fortunately this morning the fire was easily extinguished and no damage was done.

Deseronto's Park Gone.

About the only available piece of ground for a park near Deseronto is to be sold by the Indian department in a few days. Deseronto is getting to be a commercial centre of some importance, is growing rapidly, and needs a park very much. The town is partly situated in the reserve, the value of whose lands the citizens, by their thrift and industry, have raised to an enormous amount without receiving any remuneration, and now they are to lose their park. If the citizens in general, and the town council in particular had any backbone they would raise such a howl as would fairly make Ottawa tremble.

HARRISON ELECTED.

The returns this afternoon indicate that the Republicans carried the day yesterday. A special from New York at three p. m. to-day says: It is generally conceded that Harrison is elected. He has carried every northern state, with the exception of New Jersey. Thurman has acknowledged that his party has been defeated. Harrison's majority in N. Y. state is about 10,000.

Orange Blossoms.

A marriage took place this afternoon at 2:30 at the residence of Mr. Jas. Conger, Hotel Street. The contracting parties being Miss Hessie E. Bryant, niece of Mr. Conger, and Mr. Joseph S. Smith, formerly of Burmuda, but now bookkeeper for Roger & Co., the coal kings of Toronto. Rev. John Learoyd, of the First Methodist church officiated. The bride looked as lovely as was possible in a close fitting dress of white Swiss embroidery and a bridal veil and wreath. Miss Ellen Bryant, of this city, sister of the bride, assisted as bridesmaid. She was attired in a beautiful pale pink cashmere. Mr. F. Outerbridge, of Toronto, was best man. A large number of friends and relatives were present from Picton, Madoc and Toronto, and two large tables were loaded with appropriate and beautiful tokens of the high esteem and respect in which the young bride is held by her friends and associates. The happy couple left on the evening train, for their home in Toronto, amid the good wishes of a host of friends.

Orange Gathering at Thomasburg

A grand orange demonstration was held in Thomasburg, Hungerford township, on Monday at which no less than six local lodges were largely represented. The demonstration was held principally for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid society of the English church at that village. The net proceeds were about $150. A large number of speakers were present from surrounding districts, among them being Mr. Wm. Johnson, of this city. Rev. Mr. Forrester, Robt. Gordon, reeve of Hungerford, W. P. Hudson, M. P. P., Rev. Mr. Cleworth, of Thomasburg, Rev. R. H. Beach, of El. Dorado, R. J. Haliwell and Rev. Geo. Anderson. After speeches the visitors repaired to the English church where a sumptuous dinner had been prepared by the ladies. Mr. Johnson stated that it was one of the most successful and enthusiastic Orange gatherings he ever attended.

Look out for Him.

A Government detective visited Gananoque, and the different stores where tobacco or cigars were sold, for the purpose of ferreting out any frauds on the Inland Revenue Department. Under the law, all tobacco and cigars must be sold direct from the original box or case in which the goods have been received, and all revenue stamps on the packages must be cancelled when such packages are opened. Most of the grocers had been in the habit of opening a box of tobacco, for instance, putting the tobacco in a drawer, and burning up the box. All tobacco so found was seized forthwith by the detective and handed over to the Collector of Customs for safe keeping, awaiting orders from the Department as to its final disposal.

Interesting Family Relics.

Mr. Wm. Benninger has two books which he prizes very highly as family relic They are day books used by his great grand father, Jacob Benninger, when a store keeper in Camden' Valley, Washington County, N. Y., in 1790. The books are bound in leather and the writing is in a legible, business hand. Every transaction of whatever sort is recorded in these books, from the sale and purchase of land down to a peck of onions. Mr. Benninger's relatives in New York state also have a similar book 162 years old, for which the New York museum offered $500, but they declined to part with it.

Ox Point Fishery Case

The adjourned fish case of David Gerow vs the McDonald's, of Ox Point, for fishing on Sunday, was before the Magistrate today. This is a charge laid by David Gerow and the witnesses subpœned by the defence declined to swear that they would not believe him under oath. The defendents were found guilty. Judgment was reserved until Monday. The charge of trespass was dismissed.

Meeting of Creditors.

A meeting of the creditors of John C. Keith, hardware merchant, insolvent, was held in the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon. Only a small number were present. Sheriff Hope's appointment as assignee was confirmed. Mr. Keith made a proposition of 35 cents on the dollar, secured, and 40 cents without security. The meeting adjourned for two weeks, when the offer will be considered and probably accepted. In the meantime the shop will be open for business.

J. Lyons Biggar and Jas. Smith were appointed inspectors.

Methodist Quarterly Meeting

The November meeting of the quarterly official board of the Bridge street Methodist church was held last night. T. A. Patterson was appointed a local preacher, and F. W. Hollingate an exhorter. The financial success of the quarter was unprecedented in the history of the church. It was decided to give the collection on Thanksgiving day to the hospital. The stewards chosen were Messrs. H. Yeomans, C. P. Holton, A. Knox, James Wallace, J. A. Conger, W. W. Chown, W. Johnson, re-steward.

At the Opera House.

Zera Semon played to a large and appreciative audience last night at the opera house. The program was full of interest from start to finish. Zera played his first part well showing some clever work as a magician. To-night there will be an entire change of events, when an elegant gold watch will be given away. Last night little Maudie Grey won the chamber set, and F. A. Abraham, the china tea set.

Foot Ball

The team of the mute athletic association, is trying to arrange to visit Cobourg to test the strength of the "Victorias" on their own grounds. In the meantime the mutes are waiting to play over again the disputed match with the picked eleven from the city and college clubs.

AROUND TOWN

The County Court has adjourned until 20th inst.

A family in Peterboro was poisoned by eating head cheese.

The Norseman laid up for the season last Saturday.

A meeting of the Separate school board will be held to-night.

Dr. Ryerson, Toronto, will be at the Queen's hotel, on Saturday, 17th inst.

The Hastings county council will meet on 27th inst., at Shire Hall.

The foot paths at the lower bridge are being lowered six inches, making them level with the sidewalk.

A social reception was held in the Congregational Church last night in honor of the new pastor, Rev. T. M. Bowen.

The Young People's Association of the John Street Presbyterian church, has raised $500 towards the new organ.

Mr. George McDonald, sr., of Ox Point, was summoned merely as a witness in the fishery cases. Those who know him would never accuse such a law abiding citizen with fishing on Sunday.

Col. Lazier states that the 15th Battalion will have their inspection on Friday next. Major King, Paymaster and Colonel Straubenzie, Deputy Adj't. General, for this district will come up from Kingston to-morrow evening. Mr. J. Lyons Biggar is preparing a pay sheet now, which will amount to about $3,000.

PERSONAL.

City Solicitor Henderson will go to Ottawa next week, on business connected with the harbor.

H. M. Deroche, Q. C., Napanee, is conducting the Crown business at the Cobourg assizes.

Rev. J. M. Hodson, B. A., of Windsor, heads the list in Canada for marriages last year, having helped 78 couples into happiness.

Rev. Dr. Pirritte, of Brighton, whose health has suffered from nervous prostration for some time past, is now restored to health.

Rev. John Holmes, of Shambly, P. Q., and George E. Gilbert, of Seeley's Bay, are in the city.

Mrs. David Parks, of George Street, was a school mate of Mrs. Grover Cleveland in Buffalo, now mistress of the White House.

Mr. E. D. Kerby, who twice contested East Kent for the legislature in the Conservative interest, is insane. Business and other reverses are stated to be the cause.

Rev. James Kenes, of Sherbrook, P. Q. has received a call to the Queen Street Methodist Church in Kingston.

W. J. TAYLOR'S WILL.

Mrs. Jacob Cronk Fails to Establish Her Brother's Insanity.

The will of the late W. J. Taylor was entered for probate yesterday before Judge Fralick in his chambers. Mrs. Mary Ann Cronk, sister of deceased, questioned the validity of the will of her brother, who disposed of his property, being mostly real estate, to the amount of about $13,000 to the wife and child of his nephew, Charles W. Taylor, of Sidney. Mrs. Cronk opposed the will on the ground that he made it under undue influences and was not mentally capable of issuing such a document. The judge held that the will was perfectly good. Geo. D. Dickson for plff; Denmark and Northrup for deft.

A Farewell Meeting

The ladies of the John Street Presbyterian church are preparing an elaborate program for the farewell service to-morrow night at that church, in honor of Miss Jennie Sinclair and Miss Scott, who leave for their work among the Genanas in India on November the 15th. Both are experienced doctors, and have won the highest honors bestowed by the Women's Medical College in Kingston, during the recent term. Besides the addresses by the ladies themselves, an experienced missionary is expected to be present.

Rev. R. P. Wilder, delegate to American colleges for foreign missions will address the meeting. Mrs. Avache lately returned from Cocanada, India, is also expected to be present.

Miss Sinclair was born in Madoc, where she lived until about three years ago. She was brought up under the pastoral care of Rev. David Wishhart, of the Presbyterian Church of that village. Two years ago she commenced a medical course in the Women's Medical College, Kingston. It was in response to a pressing demand from the Presbyterian Mission Board of Canada for two missionaries for India which induced the lady in question and Miss Scott to offer themselves for the work. Miss Sinclair joined the church about seven years ago and has ever since been a most indefatigable worker in the cause of God.

A TEMPEST IN A TEA-POT.

Mr. Thos Aldwell's Offence was in Reading Zolas' La Terre.

It has leaked out that the "immoral literature" which Mr. Thomas Aldwell, ledger keeper in the Dominion Bank, was charged with circulating, was a French novel—La Terre, by Emile Zola. Whether the novel is immoral in tone or not the ONTARIO is unable to state. Those who have read Zola's works pronounce them trashy, with a vein of thought running through them which to say the least is not elevating in its character. It was Mr. Aldwell's brother who brought the book from Toronto, and probably he has inadvertently lent it to a friend,—for there are as many book borrowers in Belleville as there are honest men—but from the character of the young men it can scarcely be believed that they had any wrong motive in so doing.

Deputations to Ottawa

Messrs Thos. Ritchie, president of the Board of Trade, H. Corby, M. P. and Mayor Willson will proceed to Ottawa next week and interview Sir. Hector Laugevan, minister of public works, in reference to the delay of the department in submitting their approval to the plans and specifications drawn up by the Bay of Quinte Bridge Directors some four months ago.

Messrs. W. W. Pope, E. Donald and H. Corby, M. P. will seek an audience with Sir. Adolphe Caron, minister of militia, at the same time, to urge again a grant to the drill shed.

THE HOUSTON CASE.

Deputy Judge Lazier gives a Written Judgment

The following is the full text of Deputy Judge S. S. Lazier's judgment in the case of Dan Houston on trial for burglary:

In this matter no direct evidence is given connecting the prisoner with taking the goods for which he is charged. The whole evidence is circumstantial, but it must be admitted that some of it is pretty positive circumstantial evidence, the most positive being that of Tregansie, he being the only witness who pretends to speak of seeing the prisoner going into the woods. While his evidence is very positive it is not entirely satisfactory to me. His demeanor in the witness box was not satisfactory. He displayed rather too much feeling and acrimony for a disinterested witness; rather inconsistent to me that he could, when only a few feet away, as he says he was, distinguish the prisoner without being able to tell what was in the wagon. It seems to me that the size of the boxes and the quantity of stuff contained therein, should have been as plainly distinguishable at the distance he was away, as the parties who were with the wagon. He does no bear a very good character in the neighborhood in which he resides, some of his neighbors swearing that they would not believe him under oath, while many others give him a bad character for truth and veracity, without going to the length of saying that they would not believe him under oath. His own admission in the witness box also, that he said when the wagon passed him on the way to the city, that he did not know who were in it, is against the credibility of his evidence. He says he knew who was in the waggon, but that he lied about it without any possible reason. His excuse now is that he was not under oath. That may be satisfactory to him, but I don't wonder that the man who says he only tells the truth when under oath would soon get a bad reputation in the neighborhood in which he resides. The only other witness who identifies the prisoner is Sinfield and he swears to recognizing him as he comes out of the woods, through the woods to the road. Other witnesses speak of recognizing John Gilbert's deliver waggon from the name painted on the box. These witnesses make out a strong case of circumstantial evidence against the prisoner and upon this evidence alone, although circumstantial, I would feel bound to find the prisoner guilty. As against this the prisoner produces two witnesses whose testimony, if true, completely rebuts the presumption that the prisoner could have been the party seen by Treganzie and Sinfield. The evidence of the young man Gauthier, in Trenton, is not as satisfactory as it might be. But taking in connection with the evidence of Mr. Travers, who is a respectable and reliable man, raises a doubt in my mind which I feel the prisoner should have the benefit of. If this case was being tried by jury, I should feel obliged to tell them they should give the prisoner the benefit of any reasonable doubt they might have as to his guilt upon the evidence produced by the defence, and I would be very much surprised indeed if they did not, upon the evidence, have such a doubt as would lead to the acquittal of the prisoner. It is very regrettable that so respectable a man as the prisoner has always been, should be so mixed up with this dirty transaction as to require the benefit of a doubt to relieve him of the punishment touching such a crime. This whole Balkwill business has been of a very uncertain sound for the credit of the city. It is hoped there will be an end to this sort of wholesale swindling. It is greatly to the credit of the Crown officer's particularly to the Chief of Police and his efficient force that the goods were recovered so quickly and this whole chain of circumstantial evidence so carefully prepared. And while justice has miscarried, if it has, of circumstances over which they have no control, evildoers will do well to bear in mind that they cannot in this locality perpetrate a crime without being brought up with round turn. The goods having all been recovered, no one suffers a pecuniary loss from the taking of them and the prisoner has already spent nearly a month in gaol. These facts coupled with the reasonable doubt the evidence given by the defence raises in my mind as to the prisoner's guilt, forces me to the conclusion that I must acquitt him, as I accordingly do.

LITIGATION OVER A STEAMER.

The Southern Belle was Bought for a Dry Dock at Collingwood

Mr. Silcox and a syndicate purchased the steamer Southern Belle last year to ply on the new route between here and Charlotte, N. Y. (provided always that the Murray canal is opened for traffic, sometime during the present century. The boat was taken to Deseronto for repairs and as there was a lawsuit pending in reference to the ownership of the steamer it was not in commission this season. The case came before the local Master in Chancery this week. Mr. Silcox was the owner of a dry dock at Collingwood, and the Keith Bros. had a foundry there and sized the Southern Belle. The steamer was traded for the dry dock and other considerations, the terms of the agreement to be carried out, of course, by both parties. Silcox it appears guaranteed the stock in the dry dock and said it was free from all encumberances, which it appeared was not so. Keith Bros. were to repair the steamer, and on learning that the dry dock was mortgaged they refused to do so. Mr. Silcox took the Southern Belle to Deseronto himself and had her repaired. He applied for an order against the Keith's for a specific performance of the agreement and refused to enter action for trial. The Keith Bros., however, entered the case. The other day Mr. Silcox obtained an order from the Master dismissing his own action with costs. What turn the case will take now is not known. Geo. D. Dickson, Q. C. is acting for Silcox; S. B. Burdett, M. P. for Keith Bros.

HE PLEADED GUILTY

Guillet Was Nabbed in Kingston and Acknowledged the Corn

Officer Burnett was not long in locating Guillett in Kingston, says the News. He was found in bed in the Anglo American Hotel, and Burnett and McCullough placed him under arrest. With the traveller's ticket was another pass which is issued by G.T.R., and if the latter wishes to prosecute him for fraud, they have a sure case against him, as he erased the traveller's name and wrote his own. All the stolen articles with the exception of the money, were found in his possession and he was placed in the cells. He did not attempt to deny that he was the thief. Although it was half-past eleven when word was received there, before twelve o'clock Guillett was in the cells. Burnett did the job quickly.

At the police court to-day the prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge but the Magistrate reserved judgment until Monday. Jas. Mackie, proprietor of the Dominion House, spoke in the highest terms of the hitherto good character of the youth

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.

From Brockville Recorder, Oct. 29th, 1888.

Messrs Fulford and Co., of this town, manufacturers of Nasal Balm, and other proprietary remedies, have entered an action against Lawson & Jones, a firm of printers and box makers at London, Ont., for an alleged infringement of their Nasal Balm package. The damages are placed at $10,000. A similar action has been entered against a Peterborough druggist for selling the imitation preparation.

The cause of action may be briefly stated as follows: About two years ago Messrs. Fulford & Co. began the manufacture of a proprietary remedy known as Nasal Balm, a cure for cold in the head, and all forms of catarrh. That the medicine is one of great merit is amply evidenced by its large sale, and the rapidity with which it has won for itself a place as the most reliable catarrh cure in the market. It is well known that only successful articles—those having genuine merit and a wide sale—are considered worthy of imitation, and this holds true of Nasal Balm. No sooner had its great curative properities become known and its sale firmly established than imitators spang up, ready to reap a profit on the strength of the merits of the original article, and from the large expenditure of money its proprietors had made in advertising. Among these imitations is one known as Nasal Cream. Messrs. Fulford & Co., claim that this imitation has been placed upon the market through the London printing firm against whom action is taken, and that the firm in question supplies dealers throughout the country with a package almost the exact fac simile of the orignal Nasal Balm, and quite close enough to lead any who are not thoroughly acquainted with the preparation to buy it, as being the well known Nasal Balm. In supplying these imitation boxes and labels, on the latter substituting the name of Nasal Cream for Nasal Balm, the printers also give the buyer several receipts for making alleged cures and the dealer is thus equipped for carrying on a business with a preparation which he either palms off as the original or 'just as good." With Messrs. Fulford & Co. patience has ceased to be a virtue and they are now taking steps to protect themselves and taken action for damages as above noted and also ask for an injunction to restrain any imitating of their package. We understand they intend instituting proceedings against all dealers who continue to sell any imitation of their Nasal Balm.

This is a matter in which the public is also deeply interested, and those who are so unfortunate as to require a remedy for cold in the head or catarrh, should see that they are not imposed upon by these imitations.

THE PREMIER'S OPINION

ON THE RESULT OF THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Is a Matter Touching Which Sir John Declines to Take the Public Into His Confidence.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—The Republican victory in the presidential election has caused no excitement here, the general opinion appearing to be that it makes no difference to Canada, as now that the election is over it will be as easy, or easier, to negotiate with the Republicans as it would have been with the Democrats, had they won. An attempt to interview Sir John was made yesterday afternoon, but he was too cautious to express any opinion on the result. The following is the interview as published in The Journal:

"What do you think of the result?"

"I have no opinion to offer on that point," replies Sir John, with a smile.

"There is an impression that the Dominion Government favored the return of Cleveland."

"Not at all, not at all. We were quite colorless on that point as well." Sir John said this with emphasis, and he looked as though he meant what he said.

"What secured Cleveland's defeat?"

"I cannot tell the causes which won the election for Harrison."

"And the international difficulties?"

"President Cleveland remains in power until March next. What course he will adopt I cannot say. I have no reason to believe the Republicans are hostile to Canada. They favor a protective tariff not unlike our own. There is no great urgency in settling the fishery question. The fishing season is over for this year and operations will not be resumed until next year."

"Are you hopeful of a settlement of the difficulty?"

"You know I never allow myself to be interviewed," was the response. "The treaty negotiated last year is dead. It was rejected by the United States Senate, not by the Canadians. Of course if negotiations were resumed a new treaty could be framed on the same terms. At any rate the negotiations will have to be commenced anew. The Washington treaty of 1872 was negotiated by a Republican president with a Republican majority in the Senate. Is it not reasonable to suppose that the Republicans will manifest in 1889 the same spirit which actuated them in 1871?"

Hon. Mr. Foster was rather more free in his expression of opinion. He is reported as having said: "So far as the election goes I have no decided sympathy with either party. It is impossible to forecast what line the Republicans will adopt in their relations with Canada, fiscal and fishery, as it was impossible to learn from the contradictory course of the Democrats during last year what its policy would have been for another administration had it been successful. The different lines put forth seem to have been more to influence the presidential election than indicative of a settled policy which should rule after the election was over. I have no reason to think that the administration of Harrison will be anything else [illegible] acceptance in which he took reasonable ground."

Mr. Foster in conclusion said he thought the United States should take the initiative in negotiating a new fishery treaty.

MANITOBA'S LEGISLATURE.

Probable Contents of the Governor's Speech—The War Ended.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8.—The second session of the seventh Legislature opens this afternoon, and will be attended with the usual pomp and parade. In the Speech from the Throne his Honor will likely assign the crisis in the railway matters as the reason for the calling of the House together. It will be suggested that if the present uncertain state of affairs continues between the Provincial and Federal Governments in regard to the railway question an appeal will be made to the Queen in Council to have our rights under the British North America Act clearly defined. It is unlikely that any mention will be made of retaliation. It is possible that the Government will ask to be clothed with power to assist needy municipalities. This undoubtedly means in the matter of furnishing seed grain to those who lost all their crop. Mention will likely be made of the intention of the Government to amend and consolidate several important Acts.

Altogether it is expected that the session will be a most important one and it will probably last about two weeks, when an adjournment will be made until January.

The trouble at the crossing is apparently at an end and the Infantry School was withdrawn yesterday. It is apparent that there is nothing to be done until the decision of the Supreme Court has been rendered.

COLLISION AT KINGSTON.

The Kingston and Pembroke Mixed Train Runs into a Grand Trunk Freight.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—A collision occurred yesterday on a siding running into the city between a Kingston and Pembroke Railway mixed train and a Grand Trunk freight. The Kingston and Pembroke baggage car was broken by the tender of the Grand Trunk locomotive. The brakemen jumped in various directions to escape being killed. The passengers in the Kingston and Pembroke coach were thrown against each other and two ladies fainted. The coach was injured. The Grand Trunk train was not badly damaged. The tender was broken and a part of a flat car destroyed.

A Cruel Father.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—John O'Grady was summoned to appear before Police Magistrate Cahill yesterday charged with assaulting his son, Andrew O'Grady. The lad is a bright and intelligent little fellow. He transgressed Tuesday and did not go to school. His father chastised him for playing truant, and his punishment was exceedingly severe. The boy told the magistrate that O'Grady knocked him down and kicked him on the head. His head was badly bruised, especially on the forehead. He was not well enough to attend court and the case was adjourned until to-day. The magistrate refused to allow O'Grady to leave the court-room until he obtained bail.

A Painful Accident.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 8.—Ambrose Haywood, of the Lorne House, has been down some weeks with typhoid fever and was just recovering when he met with a very painful accident. Monday morning he was assisting in unloading some hay when the planks he was standing upon gave way, precipitating him to the ground. Several ribs were broken, and he received a bad gash in the forehead and a wound in the neck caused by the fork entering it.

An Unreported Steamer.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—The steamship Henri IV., of the Bossiere Line, which left Havre for Montreal Oct. 18, has not been heard from.

Mr. Blackburn, the famous chess player played eight simultaneous games blindfolded at the London Chess Club a few nights ago and won five of them. The other three were drawn.

IT NEARLY COST TWO LIVES.

Still the Notorious Rawson Divorce Case May be Compromised.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—It is announced that the notorious Rawson divorce case, which has had so many strange and startling phases during the two years it has been in the courts, is almost at an end. It is understood among the lawyers that a compromise has been made between the banker and his wife, and Judge Jamieson, before whom some of the issues of this extraordinary suit have been tried, is the reported mediator. The terms of settlement are these: Mr. Rawson agrees to give his wife $40,000, and her divorce suit on the ground of desertion will be allowed to go by default. All other civil suits—which are legion—will be dropped. Mr. Rawson retracts his charges against his wife's character, and the criminal prosecution against her for shooting Col. Whitney will be discontinued.

The history of the troubles of the Rawsons would fill a book. Stephen W. Rawson is one of the wealthiest men in Chicago, and is about 64 years old. Four years ago he married Miss America I. Lee, a remarkably handsome woman, more than twenty years his junior. She had been twice divorced, was once a Treasury clerk at Washington, and before that something of a watering-place belle. Mr. Rawson lived with his bride in a magnificent marble-front residence on the West Side, but in a few months it was common talk that the couple did not get on well together, and in the fall of 1886 Mr. Rawson began suit for divorce on the ground of unfaithfulness. The only witness he had was a sleeping-car porter, and this man afterward confessed that he had sworn falsely and the case was thrown out of court. Since then Mr. Rawson has filed amended bills, his wife has filed cross bills, there have been rejoinders and sur-rejoinders, affidavits, depositions, and traverses, until the accumulation is far beyond any precedent in even a Chicago divorce case. Both parties to the suit have had detectives watching each other, and whenever a detective saw a chance for an affidavit one was immediately added to the pile.

Mrs. Rawson had a son, Ralph Lee, and he was the cause of a good deal of the trouble between the banker and his wife. On Sunday, Oct. 15 of last year, young Lee crept up behind Mr. Rawson as he was leaving church and shot him in the back. The wound was supposed to be fatal, but Mr. Rawson got well and young Lee was sent to prison for a year. His mother was indicted for complicity, but the trial was postponed several times and finally the case dropped. June 1 Mrs. Rawson's lawyers went before Judge Jamieson to urge a speedy hearing of the suit. Col. A. R. Whitney was arguing against them when Mrs Rawson dashed into the room and shot him twice. His wounds were also supposed to be mortal, but he is alive, though very feeble. Mrs. Rawson was indicted, but has not yet been tried. Last week she filed a new bill of divorce for desertion.

DRUNK AND PLAYING COWBOY.

Six Roisterers on Horseback Run Over and Kill an Old Man.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Six men, headed by a fellow whose hair fell upon his shoulders, rode into Cottage Point, L.I. They were all mounted upon mettlesome horses and were considerably under the influence of liquor. It was not the first time they had visited the town. They are attaches of a riding academy in the neighborhood of Graham avenue and Skillman-street, Brooklyn. They rode abreast at full speed, regardless of the terrified pedestrians, who fled into doorways to avoid being run over. At Cottage Point they visited several saloons, and metaphorically painted the town red, whooping and shouting like Indians.

Opposite Shuck's saloon they drew up six abreast, still howling, and their leader gave the command, "Let her go." They gave rein, dashed off at full gallop, just as Jos. Kroger, a market gardener, 50 years old, was crossing from his house to the opposite side of the road. In an instant he was under the hoofs of the horses. The men saw what they had done, but paid no attention to their victim. At a mad gallop they passed through Flushing and made their escape.

When Kroger was picked up he was dead. Three ribs on the left side were crushed in, and death resulted from the pressure on the heart. Two of the reckless party were recognized. They are said to be John McCormick and a man named Meyer. Warrants have been issued.

THIS HUSBAND WAS CRUELLY ABUSED

He Got a Divorce Because His Wife Talked Too Much and Hit Too Hard.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—In 1884 Maxwell M. Fisher, 59 years old, a millionaire of Detroit, and Frances A. Garrison, 55 years old, were married. They went on a wedding tour to California. A month later, while in Santa Barbara, he alleges that his wife yelled at him so long and so loud one night that half the people in the Arlington Hotel awoke and listened. They traveled around California for about two months, and at almost every hotel where they stopped Mr. Fisher alleges that his wife repeated the occurrence. On May 1 this curious honeymoon terminated and they settled down in this city. Then their difficulties began in earnest.

Mr. Fisher charges that his wife circulated scandalous stories about him and an innocent young woman living in the household, and even went so far as to give such stories circulation through a newspaper. One evening in November, 1885, Mr. Fisher states, his wife "began to talk at him," and continued until 3 o'clock the next morning without stopping. At that hour Mr. Fisher timidly ventured to attempt to talk back, when she sprang from bed, he says, and hit him in the face several times, knocking him out in the first round, as he confesses. On May 29 last he filed a bill for divorce, and alleged the foregoing acts of cruelty on her part. Mrs. Fisher did not file an answer, and Judge Gartner yesterday granted the divorce. Mrs. Fisher is worth $150,000 in her own right, and both parties to the suit are well known in Detroit.

He Stuck Fast in the Mud.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Victor McDonald, a hardware dealer, of Stamford, Conn., got drunk in Harlem and walked into the river near McComb's dam bridge. It was low tide and McDonald soon found himself up to his waist in mud and stuck fast. He struggled desperately, but the more he twisted and turned the deeper he sank, and, fearing the tide would rise and drown him, he began to yell for help. Policeman Convers, of the Highbridge station, heard him and went to his assistance. The officer found he could do nothing for McDonald without wading out to him in the mud, and out he went. When the two finally reached solid ground they were sorry-looking objects. McDonald presented a ridiculous sight when arraigned in the Harlem Court. The black mud had formed in hard cakes all over his clothing and in his beard and hair, and the legs of his trousers and shoes were so filled with it that he could scarcely walk. He was discharged upon his promise to go to his home at once.

A German professor says that natural gas is created by the presence of a mass of rock on a bed of peat, and that hydraulic pressure would create the same vapor if sunflowers were used to feed it.

WHO IS PRESIDENT?

LATEST DISPATCHES LAST NIGHT FAVOR HARRISON

Indiana Probably Republican—California Claimed by the Democrats—New York Claimed by Both Parties

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The unofficial vote of all counties in the State as far as returned shows pluralities for Cleveland of 78,956, and for Harrison of 90,147, giving Harrison a plurality in the State of 11,191.

Both Claim Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Full returns have been received from 27 counties out of 92 in Indiana, which show a net Republican gain of 2365. The News says: "The Republican committee claims to have returns from 30 counties showing that Harrison would carry 5000 plurality. Governor Gray claims that the State is democratic by 5000."

Probably Republican.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—The Indianapolis Journal has returns from 80 counties showing gains for Harrison of 7000, which would give 3500 majority for the national Republican ticket.

He Changed His Mind.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Mr. Sheerin, Secretary of the Democratic Committee, when asked last evening for an expression regarding the result in Indiana said: "We have heard from fifty-four counties officially and taking the figures claimed by the Republicans for the rest our returns give the State to Cleveland by from 1500 to 2000. I think we have carried it for State officers and have gained three and possibly four congressmen, and we have a good working majority in both branches of the Legislature."

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Secretary Sheerin of the Democratic National Committee said last night that it looked now as if Harrison had carried the state but it would require the official returns to decide.

Democrats Claim California.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The following telegram was received at Democratic headquarters late last night:

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 7.
Hon. C. S. Brice: We have carried this State for Cleveland and Thurman by a safe majority.
W. D. ENGLISH.

Cleveland Captures Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Nov. 8.—Complete returns give Cleveland 74,940, Harrison 74,514, Fisk 4181; Cleveland's plurality 385.

Ohio Safe For Harrison.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8.—All the counties (unofficial) except six show a plurality for Harrison of 20,331. The six counties not reported gave Foraker (Rep.) for Governor in 1887 a plurality of 436.

Chairman Quay's Claim.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Senator Quay, chairman of the National Republican Committee, authorizes the following: The Republicans on Tuesday carried by increased majorities all the [illegible] Indiana by a plurality of from 4000 to 6000. West Virginia is in doubt. Gen. Harrison's election is secured.

The Next House Republican

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Secretary McPherson of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee says the Republicans will have about 12 majority in the next House of Representatives.

Conservative About Congratulations.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—General Harrison is receiving hundreds of congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the country. He is very conservative about congratulations, however, and wants to feel sure he is out of the woods before he answers any of them. There were a great many callers at the house yesterday.

Charged With Intimidation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Assemblyman Charles Smith was held in $2000 bail yesterday on the charge of intimidating voters Tuesday.

An Election Riot.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 8.—A riot occurred in Portsmouth between whites and blacks last night. Four hundred negroes marched down High-street, the principal thoroughfare in the city, singing "Hang Grover Cleveland on a Sour Apple Tree." At the corner of Dinwiddie-street a large party of white men were congregated and a white boy and a negro had a scuffle. The negroes came to the rescue of their comrade and were charged upon by the whites. Hardly had the fight commenced before shots were fired by the negroes. Then the wildest confusion prevailed and after about forty shots had been fired the negroes retreated. The whites then discovered that three of their men had been wounded, two probably fatally. Immediately after the riot and after the negroes had retreated the whites began arming themselves. Everybody is now armed. Mayor Baird has called out guards and 100 special policemen have been sworn in. Intense excitement prevails and the negroes are reported forming outside the city.

VIGILANT REPUBLICANS.

A Statement to the Public From the National Committee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Republican National Committee makes the following statement to the public:

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS,

In view of the claim being promulgated by the Democratic National Committee that they have carried the State of New York for Cleveland and that they are sending telegrams to their local committees all over the state to that effect, the Republican National Committee have sent out to the chairman of each Republican County Committee of the State the following telegram:

"Although full returns from every county in the State show New York safely for Harrison by upwards of 15,000 plurality, the Democrats are telegraphing to their county chairmen, claiming the State and urging them to pay attention to the returns. See to it that the returns are thoroughly guarded until officially canvassed. Prevent frauds at all hazards. In case of necessity employ counsel. Notify us of any tampering with returns. Communicate with your committee at once if necessary by special messenger."

SENSATIONAL EVIDENCE.

Promised by the Parnellites in the Case Before the Commission.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—It is stated that Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, will call a witness to swear that he forged The Times letters and will show by enlarged photographs on a magic lantern that in tracing beneath the signature the pen was repeatedly stopped in the course of writing.

Ambassador to Italy.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—M. Marine has been appointed Ambassador to Italy.

Reporter—I've just got a lovely theatrical scandal, full of the most spicy details.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Chicagoan Fleeced by Skin Gamblers—"Phip" Spohn in Hot Water.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Liquidators Howland, Gooderham and Lye of the Central Bank yesterday presented the name of William Ralph Meredith, Q.C., of London to Master Hodgins for confirmation as the successor of the late Mr. Foster as their solicitor. The Master at once confirmed the selection, and complimented the liquidators on their choice. Mr. Meredith was in town yesterday and left in the evening for London.

W. H. Payne, a stranger from Chicago, presented himself at Police Headquarters yesterday and swore out warrants against Ted Fawcett, Henry alias "Slim" Wynne, and Powley on a charge of having swindled him out of $150 in a skin game of poker. Wynne was the only one of the party arrested up to a late hour last night, Detectives Davis and Slemin effecting his capture. Although Payne is from the rapid city of Chicago, the home of brace faro games, keno sharps and crooked poker players, he fell, as he claims, an easy victim to a put-up job by which he was fleeced out of $150. He was steered by Fawcett to No. 21 Mercer-street, and there despoiled of his cash by various methods known to the professional card player.

A general information was sworn out against "Phip" Spohn by Staff-Inspector Archabold yesterday. He and his friend, "Major" E. W. Crane, were charged in the Police Court with keeping a gaming house at No. 15½ King-street west. "Phip" wanted to compromise matters by offering, through his lawyer, Ald. Galbraith, to close up his game if the police would let him go. He would not ask for the return of the tools which the police had seized. County Crown Attorney Badgerow would not consent to any such arrangement, and "Phip" and the "Major" were booked for a hearing next Monday, their own bail being accepted for their appearance.

The dismissed G. T. R. conductors are awaiting a reply from the company's headquarters at Montreal, to their demand for information as to the cause of their being cut off the roll. They have placed the matter before the Brotherhood of Conductors, which will also take action.

At the residence of the bride's mother, in Queen's Park, yesterday afternoon there took place a charming wedding which made man and wife of Mr. Augustine Foy, barrister-at-law, and Miss Constance, youngest daughter of the late Lieut.-Col. F. W. Cumberland, and sister of Mr. Barlow Cumberland. Rev. Father Laurent, assisted by Rev. Father Brennan, officiated.

The Jeffery case crops up in some way nearly every day. The latest addition to the voluminous literature of the subject is the publication this morning of Treasurer Gage's denial of Rev. Mr. Jeffery's charges touching an alleged failure to account for a portion of the building fund. The treasurer is backed up by the auditors and trustees.

A Toronto Girl's Escapade.

PETERBORO, Nov. 8.—In August last a young man of this place struck Toronto with $300 in his pockets. While seeking the elephant [illegible] The couple came here and started housekeeping in the southern part of the town, and the river of their married life ran as smoothly and as peacefully as the Otonabee for some time. It finally was discovered that the young wife was corresponding with a young man in Toronto with whom she had "kept company" before her marriage. The husband worked in the upper part of the town, and while he was away his wife sold all their belongings and took the train for Toronto.

Burglary at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—Seven or eight pairs of buckskin gloves were stolen out of Messrs. Gardner & Thompson's store yesterday morning. A hole, about six inches across, was cut in the panel of the door near the ground. Some hats were near the hole, but they were too big to be taken out. The place was not entered and nothing has been missed.

James Cushing's Injuries.

ELORA, Nov. 8.—Tuesday evening James Cushing, a farmer, was returning home, when his horses became unmanageable and turned sharply, throwing out the occupant with the load on top of him. The man lay for about fifteen minutes under the load and it is feared that he is injured internally, besides being scratched about the head and face.

The Drayton Poet in Trouble.

GUELPH, Nov. 8.—T. Claude Dean, poet, litterateur, etc., of Drayton, against whom an action for libel was brought at the assizes here by H. S. Mitchell, offered to apologize and submit to a verdict of $1 damages and $50 costs. This was accepted by the plaintiff and a verdict rendered accordingly.

Sudden Death of an Ontario Man.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—Mr. D. Cameron, of Lucknow, Ont., employed by the contractor for the Cape Tormentine breakwater, was killed suddenly by the tipping of the rigging of a derrick. He fell a distance of 30 feet and died a few hours afterwards.

Fire at Oshawa.

OSHAWA, Nov. 8.—Shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in a frame house on the corner of Colborne and Princess-streets, which was partially burned on July 1 last. The flames were soon extinguished but the building is nearly a total wreck.

He Went Armed.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 8.—On the arrival here of the steamer Catalonia from Boston a passenger named Moriarity was arrested. A revolver and a quantity of ammunition were found concealed in his trunk. He was taken before a magistrate and remanded for further examination.

Two Accidents at Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Nov. 8.—Thomas Harper, employed in the bridge works here, had two fingers crushed in an emery wheel.

While out shooting, Percy Rudidge's gun exploded; his hands and face were badly scorched and cut by the powder.

An Editor Robbed.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—H. F. Gardner, editor of The Times, had $134 in bills and $3 in silver stolen from his room yesterday morning. Mrs. Gardner's diamond brooch is also missing.

Fatal Accident.

BAYFIELD, Nov. 8.—Henry Howard, a farmer living near Bayfield, was thrown out of his buggy about 10 o'clock Tuesday night into a creek and instantly killed.

Her Recovery Doubtful.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—Miss Macdonald, sister of Sir John Macdonald, is improving in health, but it is doubtful whether she will recover.

Didn't Know it was Loaded.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—A lad of 17 named Rogers has been arrested here on a charge of shooting a playmate with an air-gun. He didn't know it was loaded.

A Double Recommendation.

THAT LITTLE ACCOUNT.

FOR THE EXPENSE OF THE MILITIA IN MANITOBA.

Winnipeg Will be Asked to Settle—Subscriptions Collected for the Sharpshooters' Monument Unaccounted For.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—In view of the statement made by Mayor Jones of Winnipeg that he would refuse to pay the expense of the militia called out in connection with the railway trouble, it has been ascertained from the Militia Department that a demand will be made on the Corporation of Winnipeg in the usual way for payment. General Middleton said that he thought the Mayor of Winnipeg would not be able to escape payment of the cost, although it might possibly lead to a great deal of litigation. "The militia regulations," said the General, "specify that troops may be called out on a requisition signed by three justices of the peace, including the warden, mayor or other head of the municipality or county in which any riot, disturbance or emergency occurs. The magistrate can act without the mayor, it is not obligatory for him to consent to troops being called out. Under the circumstances I do not see how Winnipeg can avoid the payment of these expenses."

Hon. John Robson, Provincial Secretary of Manitoba, arrived here yesterday for the purpose of discussing with the Dominion Government the questions pending between the Provincial and Dominion Governments. Amongst these is the payment of the expense, some $10,000 or $12,000, incurred in the recent Skeena River expedition. The Provincial Government contends that as the Indians amongst whom the trouble arose are wards of the Federal Government and the complaints were against the Dominion and not the Provincial Government, the expense should be borne by the former.

In the Supreme Court yesterday argument in the Joliette election case was concluded and judgment reserved.

The case of Chesley v. the Queen was then taken up and was not finished when court arose.

The time for receiving tenders for building the lock for the proposed Sault Ste. Marie Canal closed yesterday. A large number of contractors are here, and it is understood that many tenders have been received. The time for dredging the approaches and entrances to the lock has been extended to Dec. 6.

Quite a sensation has been caused by the statement that all the money collected for the Sharpshooters' monument has not been accounted for. One man is said to have gathered in something like $150, and the names of the parties who paid this money to him do not appear in the published list of subscribers. The assistant secretary of the fund states that the names of a number of gentlemen who claim that they subscribed are not on the official list.

There is a row in the Ottawa Ladies' College between Principal H. W. Scott and the five lady teachers. Some days ago Mr. Scott informed the teachers that [illegible] before him and not remain to talk over the business of the day, as they were wont to do. This order the teachers refused to obey. Tuesday when they went to dinner they found the table laid only for the principal and the pupils; no plates, etc., were laid for the teachers, and although they sat out the meal the principal never spoke to them nor did the servants offer them anything. At supper the teachers did not appear but sent out and bought their own supper. Mr. Scott left on a canvassing tour yesterday morning and will not return for a couple of months, and the ladies meanwhile remain in possession. They are highly indignant at the conduct of the principal and threaten to resign in a body unless he is dismissed. The matter will be brought to the attention of the board at once.

Sir John and Lady Macdonald returned from Kingston yesterday morning, Sir John's sister being somewhat better. She is still, however, in a critical condition.

RELIEF FELT IN ENGLAND.

Demand for a Minister to Washington Who is Posted on Canadian Affairs.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—There seems to be a general feeling of relief here that the Presidential election is over and hope is expressed on all hands that the people of the United States will speedily regain their habitual soberness of mind and co-operate in an early settlement of outstanding disputes.

Regarding the Sackville incident a noteworthy demand is arising here for a new Minister to Washington, who shall have a closer personal knowledge bearing on the grave matters affecting Canadian interests than an ordinary diplomatist would possess.

The Pacific Cable Company are making efforts to explain the survey route to the Admiralty, and it is suggested that the question be raised in Parliament.

The tone of the Stock Exchange has been fairly good during the past week. Dominion issues have further improved, Quebec going 1½ up, the dealers, according to the Canadian Gazette, feeling that those against forcible conversion are stronger than the promoters. Canadian Pacifics have more than regained the fall caused by the Manitoba trouble. Grand Trunks have also improved.

The Manitoba Mortgage Company, at a meeting called for Nov. 13, will consider reconstitution.

A Scotch broker has petitioned the Court of Sessions for winding up the Scottish Canadian Asbestos Company, on the ground that the concern is unsuccessful.

A Chatham Girl Missing.

CHATHAM, Nov. 8.—Zoe, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. Valade, tailor, of North Chatham, has been missing since Friday last. Before her departure she purchased a quantity of wearing apparel, etc., which she had charged to her father. Her parents are at a loss to account for her leaving, as she had always been a good steady girl, of correct habits, and seemingly quite contented.

Three Toughs Taken Care Of.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 8.—Three toughs who boarded a train at Tilsonburg on the Michigan Central Railway acted in a disorderly manner and were warned by Conductor Foxal that if they did not desist they would be fired off. This enraged them and they drew revolvers and threatened to shoot the conductor. They were handed over to the police here.

Poisoned Head Cheese.

PETERBORO, Nov. 8.—The family of John Cronin were stricken down with a sudden illness recently. Six of the family of eight were affected, Mr. Cronin the worst of all, his case at first being considered rather serious. Under proper care, however, they are all recovering. The head cheese they ate was supposed to have been poisoned.

A Missing Farmer.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—The police have been informed that a farmer named Gedeon Rheaume, of Beauharnois, who came to Montreal on Oct. 29, with $600 on his person is missing. Foul play is suspected.

Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's son and Stonewall Jackson's nephew peacefully occupy a desk together in the law office of the Hon. William Maxwell Evarts.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST.

The returns to hand to-day show that there is still a doubt about the result. Both parties claim New York State, Senator Gorman having discovered a mistake in King's County, he says, which gives the State to Cleveland by two thousand. However this may be it is pretty certain the result is still in doubt, and whether Harrison or Cleveland is actually elected may not be known for several days yet. The despatches to-day give the Republicans 179 votes and the Democrats 171, with New York (36) and Indiana (15) still doubtful. If, as Senator Gorman claims, New York has gone Democratic his party will have 207 votes in the electoral college, while 201 are necessary only for a choice.

Canadians feel an interest in this election, but it must be stated with truth that Cleveland's bombast during the last few weeks in pandering to a certain faction whose votes he did not get, lost him many sympathizers in Canada. Four years ago he entered the White House with a promising future before him, but Bayard proved a weakness in his cabinet and his disgraceful treatment of Lord Sackville alienated many British Americans whose votes in the heat of battle were overlooked for a more powerful element. The independent Republican vote which bolted from Blaine four years ago seems to have fallen into line for Harrison, and the majority in New York state outside the great cities is about the same as that given for Garfield in 1880. The tariff issue undoubtedly affected the vote in localities where special interests were touched. The proposal to make lumber free by the Mills bill seems to have gained votes for the Republicans in Michigan, just as the free salt proposition increased the Republican majority in the Syracuse district. But the decreased Democratic majority in the great manufacturing state of New Jersey, the close vote in Connecticut, the enormous Democratic gains in New York and Brooklyn and the reduced Republican majorities in Rhode Island and Massachussetts indicate that the "free trade" cry did not influence the votes of the manufacturers or their employes to any great extent.

PRAYING FOR GLADSTONE.

That the "grand old man" has a firm hold on the affections and confidence of [illegible] and unionist traitors may denounce him as a senile humbug and radical intriguer, but we know the grounds on which they base their charges. In all ages of the world, and in every grade of intelligence, active and successful reformers of moral and political abuses have encountered ridicule and misrepresentation. The work of Gladstone, during the past decade, or longer, has been so actively aggressive, and generally eminently honorable and noble, every enemy to genuine freedom has shown himself an enemy of his. This was expected, and though at present, through a combination of selfishness and deceit, the opposition to his schemes may appear formidable, there is no abatement of his enthusiasm and confidence. But the masses are with "Our William," and they will assert their power against any kind of opposition. As an evidence of the love that is manifested for the great Liberal leader by the common people, we may quote the following somewhat unreasonable request that appeared in a recent issue of the Dundee News. The writer certainly has faith to remove mountains, and believes all things possible for them that really do believe. The letter was as follows:—

"Dear Mr. Editor: We are all aware that there is nothing impossible to God. We all know that He has made the dead to rise, the deaf to hear, the blind to see, the lame to walk, that prayer was offered up by the church, and that St. Peter was liberated out of prison. Now, what I am drifting at is this: Why should not all the lovers all over this earth of Mr. Gladstone join in prayer at the same time in one body and send up a petition to God, who is so good to us, to renew Mr. Gladstone's years and make that noble man into youth again, say the years of twenty one, with all the knowledge and wisdom and goodness that he (Mr. Gladstone) now possesses, and that God would spare Mr. Gladstone full health and strength to see another 80 years in this world to do all the good he intends to do.; Dear Mr. Editor, you should start as the leader in this greatest work you ever did or ever shall do or any other man. I don't think for a moment that God would refuse the petition of so many millions of His children, and who knows but you might be crowned with much glory. You can do this. There is no denial. Dear Mr. Editor, I never asked a favor of you before and I hope you will not refuse this the first."

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Manitoba ministers will, it is said, demand a Commission of Inquiry into the charges brought against them by The Call and Free Press of Winnipeg when the Legislature opens. The serious nature of the accusations was admitted by Messrs. Greenway and Martin when they laid charges of criminal libel against the editors of the named journals. Unfortunately, four of the grand jury refused to join the other eleven in a "true bill." The Tory organs of boodle that are denouncing Messrs. Greenway and Martin guilty before they have had a fair trial are the same journals that saw no harm in the conduct of Sir John Macdonald, when in 1872 he sold the first Pacific Railway charter for $360,000 and got himself and his friends elected by its aid. If the Manitoba ministers are guilty they should be denounced by the press, irrespective of politics. But it is rather queer that he should be reviled in spite of the exceedingly strong presumption that he is totally guiltless, by men and journals who have defended and even applauded Sir John for doing on a great scale the very thing that Mr. Greenway is merely accused of having promised to do on a small one.

The Winnipeg Siftings has been studying the charity ball. It puts each lady's expenses as follows:

Dress, 15 yards	$15 00
Trimmings, flowers, etc	5 00
Making dress	12 00
Shoes	4 00
Gloves	2 00
Carriage	5 00
Ticket	1 00
	$44 00

Siftings then points out that but one dollar of the forty four goes to the charity. It might not be a bad thing for the poor if the ball were not given, and the whole forty-four dollars devoted to charity.

Mr. A. F. Jury, of Toronto, has a comprehensive article on Free Trade, "The Workingman's View of It," in Belford's Magazine for November. He describes himself as "a laborer, the son of a laborer and the father of laborers." One of Mr. Jury's points has special interest for farmers:

"If the people would give the least attention to the figures of the commerce of the country, they would see what a great bosh these people (Restrictionists) talk when they try to frighten the workingman by telling him that Free Trade would make us all farmers. Show me a good farming country and I will show you a good country for the mechanic and the laborer to go to. As soon as the farmer settles on the land he has wants of every kind [illegible] can think of, and the supplying of these wants will always keep employed a large number of artisans and laborers. [illegible] the facility with which men could get upon the land that made the United States the great country it is. It [illegible] with what contempt the shoddy aristocracy created by Protection look upon the farmers of the country when they try to frighten the people into voting for Protection for fear of becoming farmers."

CATARRH

A New Home Treatment for the Cure of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

The microscope has proved that these diseases are contagious, and that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the upper air passages and eustachian tubes; the eminent scientists Tyndall, Huxley and Beale endorse this, and these authorities cannot be disputed. The regular method of treating these diseases has been to apply an irritant remedy weekly, and even daily, thus keeping the delicate membrane in a constant state of irritation, allowing it no chance to heal, and as a natural consequence of such treatment not one permanent cure has ever been recorded. It is an absolute fact that these diseases cannot be cured by any application made oftener than once in two weeks, for the membrane must get a chance to heal before an application is repeated. It is now seven years since Mr Dixon discovered the parasites in catarrh and formulated his new treatment, and since then his remedy has become a household word in every country where the English language is spoken. Cures effected by him seven years ago are cures still, there having been no return of the disease. So highly are these remedies valued, that ignorant imitators have started up everywhere, pretending to destroy parasites of which they know nothing, by remedies the results of the application of which they are equally ignorant. Mr. Dixon's remedy is applied only once in two weeks, and from one to three applications effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr Dixon sends a pamphlet describing his new treatment on the receipt of stamp to pay postage. The address is A. H. Dixon & Son [illegible]

Mr. Samuel Callan, of Lisle, Ont., states that he tried all the doctors in his locality while suffering for years with Liver and Kidney trouble; nothing benefitted him until he took Burdock Blood Bitters, four bottles of which cured him.

A great deal of profanity at tending the putting up of stove pipes in the fall might have been prevented if the joints had been marked with chalk when the pipe was taken down in the spring.

In his Vegetable Pills, Dr. Parmalee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For delicate and debilitated constitutions Parmalee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

For Children Starving to Death.

On account of their inability to digest ordinary food, Scott's Emulsion can be digested and give strength and flesh when all other food fails. See what Dr. A. H. Peck, Penn. Med. College, Petitcodiac, says: "I have used and prescribed Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, and find it an excellent preparation agreeing well with the stomach, and its continued use adding greatly to the strength and comfort of the patient." Put up in 50c. and $1. sizes.

Among the Indians.

"While my husband was trading in furs he came across an Indian who was taken to his lodge to die. He had inward pains and pains in all his limbs. He gave Yellow Oil internally and applied it externally, and cured him. It also cured my husband of rheumatism, and I find it valuable for coughs and colds, sore throat, etc." Mrs. Besaw, Cook's Mills, Serpent River, Ont.

A Quarter of a Century.

For more than twenty-five years has Hagyard's Yellow Oil been sold by druggists, and it has never yet failed to give satisfaction as a household remedy for pain, lameness and soreness of the flesh, for external and internal use in all painful complaints.

Everywhere one inquires in Toronto as to who is in reality the producer of the best Art Stained Glass in that city. The reply is unanimously in favour of Jos. Mc Causland & Son. All of the finest residents in Toronto and most of those throughout Canada, have delightful examples in some form or other from his firm.

Highly Valued.

"Last summer our children were very bad with summer complaint and the only remedy that did them any good was Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. We used 12 bottles during the warm weather and would not be without it at five times the cost, considering it to have no superior for diarrhœa." Mrs. Jas. Healy, New Edinburg, Ont.

Sir Morell Mackenzie was impelled to study medicine and surgery by the earnest advice of his widowed mother.

433 SEIGNEURS ST., Montreal, May 2nd.
After ineffectually trying many of the so called remedies for catarrh, I made a trial of Nasal Balm which gave me instant relief, and since commencing its use I daily note the beneficial changes it is producing after a few applications. It changes the unpleasant odor of the virus in the throat and the poisonous secretion over which every breath must pass. To anyone troubled it is a priceless medicine.

Hesitation Means Loss.

If your hair is coming out or turning grey, or if you find dandruff in your hair, do not hesitate about looking after it. Get some of Dr. Dorenwend's "Hair Magic," use it as directed and you will find that it will give you the best of satisfaction. Take warning. Do not wait till it is too late, but try it at once. All druggists sell it.

The Modus Operandi.

The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it acts at once and the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and the Blood to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in Chronic Complaints.

"The Best Pill I ever used," is the frequent remark of purchasers of Carter's Little Liver Pills. When you try them you will say the same.

W. T. McINTYRE,
General Agent,

DEAR SIR,—I wish to tender you my hearty and sincere thanks for the very prompt and honorable way in which you paid the claim of $1,000 on the life of my late husband, Sterling C. Edwards, of Belleville, Ont., without any waiting for the usual delay of sixty or ninety days, and from my experience of the Company I can heartily recommend it to the public.

Yours Truly,
MRS S. C. EDWARDS,

Belleville, Oct. 30th, 1888.

There are 165 Cities in the World that contain over one hundred thousand inhabitants, and there are a hundred and [illegible] ailments brought on by an overworked constitution, which might be prevented by the timely use of PUTTNER'S EMULSION.

It is in diseases of this origin that it has achieved and is achieving such marvellous results. Rev. R. T. Brine, Pugwash, N. S., says: "Being fully convinced that sufferers from exhaustion, brain weakness, and rheumatic attacks, will gain speedy relief from the use of PUTTNER'S EMULSION. I feel it a duty to make known to such its remarkable effects on my system." Dr. H. J. Fixot, of St. Peters, C. B., says: "Judging from the result obtained from Puttner's Emulsion in the course of my practice, I cordially recommend it to possess all the virtues ascribed to it as a medicine."

Young and growing children thrive on PUTTNER'S EMULSION. For sale by all dealers at 50c.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., wholesale agents, Montreal.

If the from Consumption. Scrofula and General Debility, will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with hypophites they will find immediate relief and a permanent benefit. Dr. H. V. Mott, Brentwood, Cal writes: "I have used Scott's Emulsion with great advantage in cases of Phthisis, Scrofula and wasting diseases. It is very palatable. Put up in 50c. and $1 size.

Eczema, Itchy, Scaly, Skin Tortures. The simple application of "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT," without any internal medicine will cure any case of Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Piles, Itch, Sores, Pimples, Eczema, all Scaly, Itchy Skin Eruptions, no matter how obstinate or long standing. It is potent, effective, and costs but a trifle. Lyman, Sons & Co. Montreal.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," and take no other kind.

The Growth of the Hair.

Should always be watched. Inattention of the hair often leads to premature grayness or baldness. When dandruff appears it should be looked after at once. By frequently using a little of Dorenwend's Great German Hair Magic, the scalp will be kept in a clean healthy condition and the strength and vigor of the hair greatly promoted. It is the only reliable. Do not be talked into using anything else. For sale by all Druggists everywhere.

AUTHOR OF "KING SOLOMON'S MINES," "SHE," "JESS," "THE WITCH'S HEAD," ETC.

and as soon as the flame had got a hold of the wick I turned it on down the boat. As it happened, the first thing the light lit on was the white and scared face of Alphonse, who, thinking that it was all over at last, and that he was witnessing a preliminary celestial phenomenon, gave a terrific yell, and was with difficulty reassured with the paddle. As for the other three, Good was lying on the flat of his back, his eye-glass still fixed in his eye, and gazing blankly into the upper darkness. Sir Henry had his head resting on the thwarts of the canoe, and with his hand was trying to test the speed of the water. But when the beam of light fell upon old Umslopogaas I could really have laughed. I think I have said that we had put a roast quarter of water buck into the canoe. Well, it so happened that when we all prostrated ourselves to avoid being swept out of the boat and into the water by the rock roof, Umslopogaas' head had come down uncommonly near this roast buck, and so soon as he had recovered a little from the first shock of our position it occurred to him that he was hungry. Thereupon he coolly cut off a chop with Inkosi-kaas, and was now employed in eating it, with every appearance of satisfaction. As he afterward explained, he thought that he was going "on a long journey," and preferred to start on a full stomach. It reminded me of the people who are going to be hanged, and who are generally reported in the English daily papers to have made "an excellent breakfast."

As soon as the others saw that I had managed to light up the lamp, we bundled Alphonse into the farther end of the canoe with a threat, which calmed him wonderfully, that if he would insist upon making the darkness hideous with his cries we would put him out of suspense by sending him to join the Wakwafi and wait for Annette in another sphere, and began to discuss the situation as well as we could. First, however, at Good's suggestion we bound two paddles mast fashion in the bows, so that they might give us warning against any sudden lowering of the roof of the cave or water way. It was clear to us that we were in an underground river, or, as Alphonse defined it, "main drain," which carried off the the superfluous waters of the lake. Such rivers are well known to exist in many parts of the world, but it has not often been the evil fortune of explorers to travel by them. That the river was wide we could clearly see, for the light from the bull's eye lantern failed to reach from shore to shore, although occasionally, when the current swept us either to one side or the other, we could distinguish the rock wall of the tunnel, which, as far as we could make out, appeared to arch about twenty-five feet above our heads. As for the the current itself, it ran, Good estimated, at least eight knots, and fortunately for us was, as is usual, fiercest in the middle of the stream. Still, our first act was to arrange that one of us with the lantern and a pole there was in the canoe should always be in the bows ready, if possible, to prevent us from being stove in against the side of the cave or any projecting rock. Umslopogaas, having already dined, took the first turn. This was absolutely, with one exception, all that we could do towards preserving our safety. The exception was that another of us took up a position in the stern with a paddle, by means of which it was possible to steer the canoe more or less, and to keep her from the sides of the cave. These matters attended to, we made a somewhat sparing meal off the cold buck's meat (for we did not know how long it might have to last us); and then feeling in rather better spirits, I gave my opinion that, serious as it undoubtedly was, I did not consider our position altogether without hope, unless, indeed, the natives were right, and the river plunged straight down into the bowels of the earth. If not, it was clear that it must emerge somewhere, probably on the other side of the mountains, and in that case all we had to think of was to keep ourselves alive till we got there, wherever "there" might be. But, of course, as Good lugubriously pointed out, on the other hand we might fall victims to a hundred unsuspected horrors, or the river might go winding away inside the earth till it dried up, in which case our fate would indeed be an awful one.

"Well, let us hope for the best and prepare ourselves for the worst," said Sir Henry, who is always cheerful and even spirited—a very tower of strength in the time of trouble. "We have come out of so many queer scrapes together that somehow I almost fancy we shall come out of this," he added.

This was excellent advice, and we proceeded to take it each in our separate ways—that is, except Alphonse, who had by now sunk into a sort of terrified stupor. Good was at the helm and Umslopogaas in the bows, so there was nothing left for Sir Henry and myself to do except lie down in the canoe and think. It certainly was a curious, and indeed almost a weird, position to be placed in—rushing along, as we were, through the bowels of the earth, borne on the bosom of a Stygian river, something after the fashion of souls being ferried by Charon, as Curtis said. And how dark it was! the feeble ray from our little lamp did but serve to show the darkness. There in the bows sat old Umslopogaas, like Pleasure in the poem, watchful and untiring, the pole ready to his hand, and behind in the shadow I could just make out the form of Good peering forward at the ray of light in order to make out how to steer with the paddle that he held, and now and again dipped into the water.

"Well, well," thought I, "you have come in search of adventures, Allan, my boy, and you have certainly got them. At your time of life too! you ought to be ashamed of yourself, but somehow you are not; and awful as it all is, perhaps you will pull through after all; and if you don't, why, you cannot help it, you see! And when all's said and done, an underground river will make a very appropriate burying place."

It was nearly mid day when we made our dive into darkness, and we had set our watch (Good and Umslopogaas) at 2, having agreed that it should be of a duration of five hours. At 7 o'clock, accordingly, Sir Henry and I went on, Sir Henry at the bow and I at the stern, and the other two lay down and went to sleep. For three hours all went well, Sir Henry only finding it necessary once to push us off from the side; and I that but little steering was required to keep us straight, as the violent current did all that was needed, though occasionally the canoe showed a tendency ..., which had to be guarded against, to veer and travel broadside on.

When I had been for three hours or so at the helm I began to notice a decided change in the temperature, which was getting warmer. At first I took no notice of it, but when at the expiration of another half hour I found that it was getting hotter and hotter, I called to Sir Henry and asked him if he noticed it or if it was only my imagination. "Noticed it!" he answered, "I should think so. I am in a sort of Turkish bath." Just about then the others woke up gasping and were obliged to begin to discard their clothes. Here Umslopogaas had the advantage, for he did not wear any to speak of except a moocha.

Hotter it grew, and hotter yet, till at last we could scarcely breathe, and the perspiration poured out of us. Half an hour more, and though we were all now stark naked we could hardly bear it. The place was like an antechamber of the infernal regions proper. I dipped my hand into the water, and drew it out almost with a cry; it was nearly boiling.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

I have had catarrh for twenty years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith, druggist, of Little Falls, recommended Ely's Cream Balm. The effect of the first application was magical, it allayed the inflammation and the next morning my head was clear as a bell. One bottle has done me so much good that I am convinced its use will effect a permanent cure. It is soothing ... easy to apply and I strongly ... al sufferers.—Geo Terry.

OPHTHALMOSCOPIC
TEST LENSES
Will Detect all Visual Defects

A SCIENTIFIC and practical instrument is used for detecting all optical defects of the eye and determining the lenses needed for their correction.

As we use this instrument in adjusting spectacles and eye glasses, we can guarantee satisfaction to our customers in all cases of Myopia or near sight, Hyperopia, or far sight, Presbyopia, or old sight, and Astigmatism, or poor sight, caused by oval eyes which cause some figures on a clock dial at fifteen feet to look darker than others.

This instrument measures each eye separately; a method which all oculists agree is the proper one.

In our experience many persons have been found have eyes that are unlike, this is requiring lenses of different magnifying or diminishing power for each eye, which combined in one frame will give distinct normal vision.

Persons who have had difficulty in obtaining Spectacles to suit them, are cordially invited to call, and acquaint themselves with the merits of this instrument.

Spectacles and eye glasses always in stock of the several grades in frames of Steel, Rubber, Nickle, Celluloid, Silver Gold, and spectacles and eye glasses other than regular goods mounted to order.

Farewell to the Lady Missionaries.

Rev. Dr. George states that there will be no collection taken up at the John Street Church to-night at a farewell of Miss Jennie Sinclair and Miss Scott, who leave on the 15th for India. A feature of the evening will be an address by Rev. R. P. Wilder, M. A.

Albert College Re-opening

The improvements which have been going on at Albert College during the summer, are rapidly approaching completion, and it is intended to hold the opening on Friday evening Nov. 16th., addresses will be delivered by Rev. Potts, Rev. Dr. Burwash, Rev. Dr. Carman and S. B. Burdett, M. P.

On a Trip to Europe

It is reported that Samuel R. Balkwill, the insolvent wine merchant has gone on a trip to friends in Europe. Mrs. Balkwill, it is asserted, will not see him again for some time. If she had never seen him, a lady of position and refinement would have been saved the humiliation of many misdeeds, of which her husband was guilty.

Appeal to Methodists

Rev. Drs. Carman and Williams, general superintendents of the Methodist church, Rev. N. Burwash, Chancellor of Victoria University, and Rev. Dr. Potts, general secretary of Education, have issued an appeal in the columns of the Christian Guardian on behalf of the new Victoria College, urging that "the present is the sumpreme crisis of the work," and that a new infusion of energy is required to accomplish the aims of the church.

Orange Blossoms.

A quiet wedding was celebrated last night on Pine street. The contracting parties were Mr. George E. Gilbert, merchant of Seeley's Bay and Miss Mc Cormick, daughter of the late William McCormick. The happy event was solemnized at the residence of the bride's mother, Rev. John Holmes, of Shambly, P. Q., uncle of the groom, officiating. The young married couple have the best wishes of many friends for their future success and happiness.

The Separate School Board

The Separate School Board met last night in the council chamber. Mr. John Doyle, chairman, presided. Mr. John Kelly, M. A., teacher in the West Belleville school, sent in his resignation to take effect the first of January. It was accepted. Mr. Kelly will discontinue his profession as school teacher and enter that of medicine at the Kingston Medical college. A new teacher will be advertised for to fill the vacancy. Several small accounts were also passed.

Big Fire in Milltown

Gaoler Appleby received word from Milltown to-day to the effect that his house there had been destroyed by fire. The dwelling was worth about $500, on which there was no insurance. A house adjoining belonging to Wesley Reed was also destroyed. Mr. Reed has been burnt down three times within a year. B. Reed, who was living in Mr. Appleby's house, lost the contents. The fire was supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Truth at Last.

The stockholders of the Kingston Base ball Association have been served with a legal notice calling for more stock. One half of the subscribed stock was called in, and now they want another eighth. The directors were never furnished a statement of their liabilities so that it has leaked out three months afterward that the season was not a financial success. The press of that city must have been telling some tall stories when it claimed that Kingston, unlike Belleville, paid expenses.

Rev. Mr. Mottashead in Dakota.

The Willow Lakes News, Clark County, Dakota, says of a well known Bellevillian, who was for a time connected with the Salvation Army:—"Our people rejoice over the appointment of Rev. Mr. Mottashead for this place. Rev. Mottashead's ability in the pulpit is appreciated by our citizens, who trust he may be rewarded in building up a large membership. The pastor and his wife are pleased with Willow Lakes, and we extend hearty congratulations and best wishes for their future."

If you have a cough or cold do not neglect it: many without a trace of that hereditary disease have drifted into a consumptive's grave by neglecting what was only a slight cold. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. Mr. A. W. Levy, Mitchell, writes: "I think Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the best preparation on the market for coughs and severe colds. About six years ago I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs, and for three months I had a cough. I had a physician attending me, but gradually grew worse until I was on the verge of consumption, and had given up hopes of being cured, when I was induced to try Bickle's Syrup. Before I had taken one bottle I found myself greatly relieved, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I was completely cured.

THE COBOURG ASSIZES.

Doyle Gets $800 From the G. T. R. for the Death of His Father.

The case of Doyle vs. the G. T. R. Co. tried at the Cobourg assizes was an action to recover damages for the death of plaintiff's father, Patrick Doyle, who was killed in June last, at the railway crossing near Hon. R. Smith's residence, west of Cobourg; judgment for plaintiff for $800. The case of Oakes and Leibundgert vs. Toms was an action for false arrest. It appears that there was an unlawful firing of a revolver in the streets of Newcastle one night in March last, and a man was arrested for it. Afterwards Toms, who is not a constable, arrested Oakes and Leibundgert, who were in a hotel quietly conversing, and doing nothing disorderly. He did not tell them why they were arrested. They were kept in the lockup until the next day, and released. No charge was preferred against them. Toms claims he made the arrest at the request of the village constable, and they were arrested for being in the company of the man who did the shooting, although this was not proven. Verdict for plaintiffs, one shilling damages.

Latest Fetes of Time Happenings a Coming Events.

Picton Council on Monday night awarded the contract for building the waterworks in Picton to E. L. De Lavalle & Co., of Montreal, whose tender was the lowest, being $29,950. There were five tenders, ranging all the way up to $30,000.

An action between Catherine Woolman and Wm. Forrell, both of Madoc, will probably be tried at the spring assizes here. The plaintiff is claiming damages for seduction. Since child was born, its alleged father has renounced the woman, and refused to board and clothe the child, hence the action. S. B. Burdett, M. P. will appear for the plff. and Geo. D. Dickson, Q. C. for the deft.

A Parlor Boot Store.

Haines & Lockett have made a great improvement in their store on Front St. this season which makes it one of the finest boot and shoe stores in the Province. The front of the store was raised about a foot and supported by iron girders. A plate glass front was put in that gives the store a very stylish appearance. There are four plate glass windows, all the same size—144x66—with a door in the centre. The girders were imported from England through the Brown Mfg. Co. Harris & Walton furnished the plans and did the work. On the floor just outside of the entrance "The city boot store" will be displayed in Costic tile, which will be something new. A plate glass sign with the firm's name—also a novelty, will be placed just inside of the windows, while Mr. Rolph, sign writer, is completing an elaborate sign for the outside. The whole work cost about $600. Everyone admires the new front and the excellent taste displayed in the rearrangement of the store. This is only another evidence of the success and enterprise of one of largest merchantile houses in Belleville

The City Corps

The drill shed is going along rapidly and greater interest is being manifested by the soldiers and officers every day. Shingling the roof was commenced to day and will be finished on Tuesday. The woodwork on the walls is also done and will be bricked on Monday.

The paysheet was signed last night, and it was unanimously agreed to deduct $2 from each private soldier and all of the officer's salaries to go towards the proposed new helmets and leggings. Last night the battalion drilled at the G. T. Ry. depot, and will drill to-night in the armoury.

Mayor King, paymaster, and Col. Straubenzie Dep't Adjt. General arrived in the city to night and will inspect the corps to morrow.

Hospital Sunday.

MR. EDITOR.—I see by last evening's paper that an Hospital Sunday for this city as in other places is advocated. It certainly would be a good idea and a custom which, no doubt, our citizens would be glad to see established. As this Sunday has not yet been arranged for I would suggest that the collection in the different churches on Thanksgiving day be given to the Hospital This has already been done by some of the congregations, and might very reasonably be done by all. As the Hospital and Home for the Friendless are our only public charity they should be both generally and generously supported. Yours truly,

J. L. BIGGAR.

Letter From Messrs Aldwell

MR. EDITOR.—We regret the notoriety you have given our names which was not our seeking. In last night's paper a paragraph appears, headed "A Tempest in a Teapot" in which you assert that it was Mr. Thos. Aldwell's brother who brought the book referred to from Toronto "La Terre" by Emile Zola, and that probably he had inadvertently lent it to a friend. A kindness for us may have prompted the paragraph but it is based upon an error. Neither one of us have ever owned the book nor did either of us ever bring it from Toronto as you stated, or lent it to anyone. Yours truly,

THOMAS ALDWELL, W.A.R. ALDWELL

Engaged for two Years Ahead.

The Winnipeg Sun gives the following, a portion of an interview with Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, who are holding revival services there: Messrs. Crossley and Hunter are really engaged for about two years ahead, and if they accepted all the invitations on hand they would lay out work for four or five years. Next year they propose visiting Hamilton and London, where they labored successfully for five months four years ago. This year they were urged to go to Toronto, where they could have spent six months in the Metropolitan, Queen and Elm Street Methodist churches. They do not expect to be able to touch Toronto for a considerable time. From this city the ministers leave for Detroit, where they will hold services in the largest church in Michigan. From there they go to Peterboro, Kingston and other cities.

A "Put and Call."

This is a funny phrase to the uninitiated but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent. for the option of buying or selling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer, but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvelous. It cures the worst cough, whether acute, lingering, or chronic. For weak lungs, Spitting of Blood, Short Breath, Consumption, Night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

STILL IN DOUBT.

BOTH PARTIES STILL CLAIM NEW YORK STATE

The Returns From Indiana Are Very Close—The Chances in Favor of the Republicans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The following is a statement showing the number of electoral votes the Democratic and Republican parties are entitled to, granting that the returns which have been received are correct:

REPUBLICAN.		DEMOCRATIC.
California	8	Alabama	10
Colorado	3	Arkansas	7
Illinois	22	Connecticut	6
Iowa	13	Delaware	3
Kansas	9	Florida	4
Maine	6	Georgia	12
Massachusetts	14	Kentucky	13
Michigan	13	Louisiana	8
Minnesota	7	Maryland	8
Nebraska	5	Mississippi	9
Nevada	3	Missouri	16
New Hampshire	4	New Jersey	9
Ohio	23	North Carolina	11
Pennsylvania	30	Oregon	3
Rhode Island	4	South Carolina	9
Vermont	4	Tennessee	12
Wisconsin	11	Texas	13
		Virginia	12
Total	179	West Virginia	6
		Total	171

Not settled—New York, 36; Indiana, 15; necessary to a choice 201.

The above statement shows pretty clearly the political complexion of each state.

Senator Gorman claims to have discovered mistakes in King's County, New York State returns, which gives the state to Cleveland by 2,000.

Still in Doubt

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The morning papers are still in doubt over the result. The Empire, which goes to press at a later hour than the others, cannot say which party was victorious. It admits that the chances are in favor of the Republicans. In New York it says there are still some 300,000 votes still to count and there is no telling what may happen. "If Harrison's gains in the counties continue he will carry the State by a plump plurality. But the Democrats claim it for Cleveland and the call of the Republican National Committee to protect the ballot boxes does not indicate that they feel absolutely sure. Once give Harrison and Morton New York and the election is ended.

The Globe says New York has certainly gone Republican and the World says now that all bets can safely be paid and those who backed Cleveland are the losers. The Mails despatches indicate that Cleveland lost the election through "treacherous" Hill.

The Latest Advices

A special this afternoon from Toronto says: Nothing definite has been received to-day regarding the position of New York State, but Chairman Brice, of the Democratic National Executive Committee, concedes the election to Harrison.

In Indiana 905 precints give Harrison 147,907; Cleveland 141,084.

Bobcaygeon v. Kingston.

Bobcaygeon Independent.

The Kingston people say that our pretensions are absurd. Are they? Are they so absurd as the pretensions of Kingston? No. Most certainly the absurity is all on the part of Kingston. That tumble-down old mausoleum of the Past a Capital! Could anything be more absurd? Why, it is only its penitentiary that saves it from extinction, and any place that is saved from extinction simply by penitentiary folk can't be anything to brag about. Then in Bobcaygeon we have everything which is desirable in a provincial capital. The location, the environment, the beauty, the society, the high culture, the wealth, the popular aspiration for a high and nobler existence, the abundance of blacksmiths' shops, the respect for law, the purity of the water—all the attributes of the higher civilization—we possess them all—all. We have everything—and the covered skittle alley of the Forest house would closely adjoin the new parliament buildings. Compared to these advantages what has Kingston to offer? Nothing but the penitentiary! Pshaw! Get thee to a nunnery. Go, stupid old Kingstons, and bag thy venerable heads. You, the capital of the new province! Go to Kingston must be demented. Whenever a new province is created, Bobcaygeon will be its capital.

A Harmless Comedy of Errors

Chicago Mail.

Morris E. Ward, formerly of the press of this city, but now agent of a popular car wheel concern on the Hudson, is charitable, gallant, and absent-minded.

He has a poor relative up the country to whom he sends all his old clothes. There are many ladies in the city to whom he sends invitations for the theater.

The other day he wrote to his poor relation: "I send you my last pair of pants but one; they may be a trifle small but you can let them out in the waistband. If they are too long you can turn 'em up. Don't mind the patch."

The same day he wrote to a lady: "Since you were kind enough to accept my invitation to the theater, leaving it to me to select the play and evening, permit me to say the Columbia, this evening."

In an hour Mr. Ward received the following from his lady acquaintance: "As you did not send the pants by the messenger who delivered your note, I am, of course, unable to do anything to them. However, this need not interfere with our engagement for the theater."

Mr. Ward went to the theater, but he was very uneasy.

Should a Girl Dress Quickly?

Between the brisk young woman who can dawn upon the breakfast table neatly and completely dressed in ten minutes after her eyelids have opened to the light of a new day, and the leisurely damsel who requires 45 minutes or an hour for the same operation, there is a whole gamut of feminine variations. The close observer of these varying types of fair dressers finds each possessed of interest. There is the honest, candid girl, who confesses that it takes her an hour to assume the raiment of the day and to do full justice to the mysteries of the dressing bureau and the bath. She takes an hour and no one expects better things. There is the girls opposite—yet counterpart—in the equally truthful young woman who says she can make ready for breakfast or the walk in ten minutes, and who does so in nine cases out of ten. Then comes the host of erratic ones. The girl who will be ready in a minute, only to keep up expectancy on the part of the waiting ones for twenty times one minutes. There is the fair one whose voice cheerily rings out a statement that she has only her bonnet to put on, or a bow to pin, who apparently devotes more time to that simple operation than to the varied operations of apparelling. The art of getting in one's daily habiliments with rapidity and with neatness, is possessed by the minority of Eve's daughters only. Yet this trait of rapidity indressing should be of honest acquisition, and though heredity, for a surety Eve was not given to spending much time at her toilet, and yet her fair descendants do not inherit their remote ancestor's traits.

Four Girl Babies at a Birth.

The wife of Frank A. De Groot, of Milbury, Mass., yesterday gave birth to four baby girls. Mother and children are all doing well to-day. The smallest of the babies weighs nearly three pounds and the others weigh nearly six pounds each. The mother has always been in excellent halth and has had children before, but never more than one at a time. The attending physician says there is no reason why all the children should not live.

Elsie—"What's this, Grandma, I found in the attic?"

Grandma—"Why, child, that's my old bristle tooth brush."

Elsie—"Did you used to clean your teeth with it?"

Grandma—"Yes, dear, I tried to, but it hurt my gums, scratched my teeth, and did else. How delighted I was when I first used the Ideal Felt Tooth Polisher that everybody uses now, and which has done so much to preserve the teeth."

Elsie—"Isn't it nice? But Grandma, when was it introduced?"

Grandma—"About 1886; by the same Horsey M'f'g Co., of Utica, N. Y., who now make it."

YELLOW AS A GUINEA.—The complexion, in a case of unchecked liver complaint, cumilating in jaundice, is literary "as yellow as a guinea." It has this appearance because the bile, which enables the bowels to act is directed from its proper course into the blood. In connection with this sympton there is nausea, coating of the tongue, sick headache impurity of the breath, pains through the right side and shoulder blade dyspepsia and constipation. These and other concomitants of liver complaint are completely removed by the use of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, which is also an eradicant of scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, cancers, humors, female weakness, jaundice, and lumbago. It tones the stomach, loosens the liver, and after relieving them, causes the bowels thereafter to become regular. High professional sanction has been accorded to it; and its claims to public confidence are justified by ample evidence. Price, $1.00 Sample bottle 10 cents. Ask for Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers

PULPIT SENSATION.

Rev. Mr. Jeffrey Not Himself at all—Remarkable Assertions

On Sunday morning last Rev. Mr. Jeffrey, Toronto, preached a remarkable sermon. Among other things he said:

"You have no right to tolerate sin in your minister. I speak with an intensity of purpose. But you say, 'Brother, you should draw it mild.' (Laughter.) I suppose Jesus Christ was very mild when He denounced the religious professors of H's day as 'Generation of vipers, how shall ye escape the damnation of hell!' I tell you some of you are too mealy-mouthed. What is the reason? You know you are not living right. Tell the truth and shame the devil. Some of you are 'terrors' on a pipe and tobacco smokers. (Laughter.) You may lie, steal, break the Sabbath and you say that will all be forgiven, but if your brother smokes you tell him he will not go to heaven. The sight of a pipe has just the same effect on you as a red rag on a bull. (Applause.) There's many a smoking man will get to heaven, while some of you nonsmokers will knock at the door a long time and then not get in. Some mothers think their daughters will not get into heaven if their daughters wear the Grenadier style of bonnet and feathers. Others are just as strong against flounces. (Laughter.) It is astonishing how pietists dive first at one thing and then at another. You condemn smoking because you durst not smoke a pipe to save your life. (Laughter.) But you can do something else a great deal worse. Can a man who plays cards go to heaven? Yes, he can. Can a man who drinks whiskey go to heaven? Yes, he can."

An interrupter—"No, he can't."

Mr. Jeffrey—"This is another gospel! A man who habitually gets drunk cannot, as a drunkard, go to heaven, but I defy any one to show me from the bible that any one who takes a glass of ale, gin, whiskey, wine or brandy cannot go to heaven. (Applause.) A man ought not to take these merely as beverages, or because he likes them. You are not bound to take a bottle of castor oil every day for dinner. The Christian rule is, 'Whether you eat or drink do all to the glory of God.' When you set yourselves up for apostles you must show signs of your apostleship. If we keep the ten commandments and the eleventh—love to our neighbor—and leave everything else alone it will be better for us. We shall not then be condemning things as sins which are no sins at all.
